Senior High School To Be Built In Charleston

CHARLESTON'S NEW $1.3 MILLION HIGH SCHOOL that is to be constructed in 1966 and 1967.

FLOOR -PLAN DRAWING of the $1.3 million school to be constructed at Charleston.

CHARLESTON -- Construction of $1.3 million elliptical high school is to begin here in February 1966, according to H. H. Sutherland, president of the Charleston Board of Education.

"The building is designed for learning rather than teaching," contends Sutherland.

The 85,000 square foot high school, designed for flexibility and future expansion by St. Louis Architects Pearce and Pearce, Inc., will accomodate an anticipated maximum enrollment of 1,000 students.

"The philosophy of our school," according to Dr. W.R. Pierce, Jr., superintendent of Charleston schools, "will be reflected in the physical facilities."

"It proposes the development of the child intellectually, socially, emotionally and physically, and requires a more comprehension program than would be required if the educational philsophy proposed a continuation of the traditional concept of elementary education," Pierce said.

The new school will have a controlled environment, according to Chief Designer David Pearce.

He said:

"The plant will be an enormous and complex educational facility in which all components will be used as tools of learning."

Flexibility factors in the new school include single story construction with open-end or non-existent corridors, a compact plan on an adequate site, easily-removed non-load-bearing dry wall interior partitions.

The school will contain a minimum of doors and classrooms areas will be defined by movable furniture barriers.

Sound will be controlled by carpeting and slotted acoustical mineral tile suspended ceilings.

Structure of the domes over the circular gymnasium and future auditorium will be wood lamellas with two inch wood decking.

Plastic dome skylights will be used elsewhere in the building.

Lighting will be flourescent throughout.

Completion is anticipated in 1967.

Three Killed In Accidents Over Holiday Period

Three persons were killed in traffic accidents over the Thanksgiving holiday in Southeast Missouri.

A 21-year-old mother and her two-month old daughter, both of St. Louis, lost their lives Wednesday night at 11 p.m. A Jackson pedestrian lost his life on Interstate 55, early Thursday morning.

Mrs. Peggy Jean Long, and her daughter, Belinda, were in a 1955 Pontiac, driven by her husband, Bobby Joe Long, 25, St. Louis, when the car left highway 61 a few hundred yards north of Morley and turned over five times, according to the highway patrol.

They were thrown from the car.

The husband received leg and head injuries, and a son, Ricky, 5, received bruises.

The contents of the car were thrown over a wide area in the triangle area at the intersection of highway 61 and 77.

The family was enroute to visit relatives when the accident occurred. The two injured members were tkaen to the Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

Peggy Long was born in Oran, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin A. Warren of Bell City. She was married to Bobby Joe Long on Jan. 16, 1960.

Belinda Jean Long was born Sept. 23, 1965.

Other survivors of the two are, Mrs. Long's mother; two sons, Ricky Joe and Quintin Lee Long; three brothers, Harold Warren, Diehlstadt, Billy Ray Warren, Chicago, Ill., and Terry Ray Warren, Bell City; two sisters, Joyce Ann Warren and Sharon Warren, both of Bell City.

Services will be held Sunday at 2 p.m. in the Pentecostal Church, Oran, with burial in Friends Cemetery in Oran.

An unusual accident Thursday at 2 a.m. on Interstate 55, three miles south of Cape Girardeau, took the life of James Brown, 31, Jackson.

A 1965 Mercury traveling south, driven by Fred Keyerleber, 28, Cleveland, Ohio, hit a pedestrian standing in the road waving his arms. The Mercury was unable to avoid striking the man.

Edna Cook, Scott City, trailing the first car, then ran over Brown.

In an accident at 7 p.m. Thursday on highway 61 near Scott City, a 1947 Dodge driven by Clarence Rogers, 23, Cape Girardeau, came around a curve too fast and struck a metal railing.

The passenger in the car, Lester McNeely, 18, Cape Girardeau, received cuts on his face and arm, and was taken to the St. Francis Hospital in Cape Girardeau.

In an accident on Route K near Scott City at 12:10 a.m., yesterday a 1963 Buick, driven by Charles Menz, 19, Scott City, struck a utility pole when he came around a curve at high speed.

Injured was Kenneth Shackles, 17, Chaffee, who received bruises. He was taken to St. Francis Hospital in Cape Girardeau.

A 1956 Oldsmobile, driven by Melvin Reeves, 53, Sikeston, was involved in a two car accident Thursday at 11 p.m. on highway Y one mile south of Salcedo.

A 1962 Plymouth was parked on the roadway without lights and the Oldsmobile struck the parked car, injuring Mrs. Bertha Reeves, 48, Sikeston, who received cuts on her head and a back injury.

She was taken to the Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

An accident at 3:20 a.m. Thursday at the Mississippi River bridge, Cairo, Ill., caused injuries to Leslie Huddleston, 23, and Shirley Huddleson, 18, both of Nashville, Tenn.

They were taken to the Cairo hospital where they were treated for cuts and bruises.

The accident happened at the approach as they started to cross the bridge when another car forced them to strike the bridge railing.

Local Boy Report About Viet Nam

EDITOR'S NOTE - - Gene Nicholson, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Nicholson, 315 East Gladys, is working in the press relations office in Saigon. He sent the following article telling how food was prepared for the soldiers serving in the war in Viet Nam.

By GENE NICHOLSON

SAIGON -- Not many of the 161,000 American servicemen now serving in Vietnam will get through Thanksgiving Day without the traditional turkey dinner.

The Navy's Headquarters Support Activity, responsible for providing all food for U. S. troops here, started planning the dinner last June. The average time - lapse between ordering commodities from the U. S. and their arrival here by boat, is about three months.

To add to the problem, the Supply people had to look into the future to calculate the number of U. S. troops that would be in Vietnam by the end of November. (In June there were approximately 67,000). Their crystal ball gazing proved accurate enough that each G. I. here will be served his official ration of turkey.

The order for 12,000 of America's finest turkeys--12 to 14 pounders--went out to Oakland Naval Supply Center in July, and the birds started their 8,000 mile journey by boat. The last leg of that trip got underway early this week, when the shipment began leaving refrigerator units at Saigon, Cam Ranh Bay, Qui Nhon and Da Nang.

Most of the turkey, along with shrimp for cocktails will be delivered to units in the field by truck. Some of the birds will go out on the wing though-- to be air dropped to units who are isolated or in inaccessable areas.

Not to be caught with their drumsticks down, though, the Navy has stockpiled an emergency supply of frozen boneless rolled turkey -- just in case.

The official military Thanksgiving menu reads: shrimp cocktail, roast turkey, bread dressing, giblet gravy, cranberry-orange relish, candied sweet potatoes, mashed potatoes, buttered green beans, relish tray, Parker House rolls, butter, fruitcake, pumpkin pie, mincemeat pie, fresh fruit, candy and assorted nuts.

But with this special past, Navy Supply people are not at rest. They are already deeply involved in repeat performances for the coming Christmas and New Year dinners. Orders for these meals went out in September and the birds are on the wing - er - boat again.

Arrest Three

Police made three arrests yesterday.

Willie Green, 303 Alabama, was charged with assault.

James L. Cox, 223 Edmondson, was charged with writing a no account check.

Martha Barham, 606 Lake, had three charges placed against her, and given summons. The charges were, driving while intoxicated, no city license and no operator's license.

Telephone Company Contributes 100 Per Cent To United Fund

Southwestern Bell and its employees, who are affiliated with the Communication Workers of America, Local 6313, held a celebration Wednesday at the Telephone Company in closing their 1965 United Fund Drive with 100 per cent participation.

The total contribution was $2,430.20. This represented an average contribution of $14.93 per employee. The telephone company has a payroll deduction plan.

John Donoho, Manager, said this year's drive was the most successful of any previous years.

Last year the average contribution was $10.86 per employee.

Capacity Crowd Attend Holiday Services

A capacity crowd was present at the annual union Thanksgiving Service Wednesday at the First Christian Church, sponsored by the Sikeston Ministerial Alliance.

Rev. William L. Blackard, Wesley Methodist Church, delivered the sermon.

The Ministerial Alliance is made up of 16 churches of Sikeston, with proceeds of the service going to the needy of the community.

Ministers taking part in the Wednesday night service were, Rev. T. A. McDonough, First Assembly of God Church; Rev. Myron Neal, First Christian Church; and Rev. C. D. Butler, Murray Lane Baptist Church.

The Thanksgiving message by the Rev. Blackard was as follows:

"What is the meaning of Thanksgiving in the majority of homes in this nation in which we live?

"For many I am rather sure that it is not much more than an extra day off from work when because of tradition the family watches or attends a football game and stuffs themselves with rich foods.

"But is this day something more than a tradition of our country? Is Thanksgiving more than a day when we recall the hardships of our early settlers and how they held a big feast in celebration of having safely and successfully lived through some hard days? Let us put our minds to the task of seeing something of greater importance and of greater historical endurance than just our own national interest.

"First I would call our attention to hardships known to a people of an earlier time. The people who we once in a while link to our heritage as Christians, the Children of Israel.

During the period of their wanderings while driving to escape from Egypt they found themselves without food and were asking the Lord to care for them. They were an unhappy lot at this point and the Lord provided them with their daily needs.

"This brings to my mind a similarity between them and us today. The story in Exodus Ch. 16 tells of how they were provided with the bread from heaven along with instructions about its gathering. And what happened to them is much like our own selfish habits of today, some heard and took seriously the instructions that they should gather only what they would need for that day. These went out each day and gathered the amount of food that they would need, others decided that they were so very hungry that they would not take only the small amount designated to them but that they were really going to have a feast. A third group or type decided that while there was plenty available they would be sure of getting their share for the days to come.

"The writer relates an interesting thing to us about this situation. Much to their surprise as it would be to us all three groups of people had an ample amount of food just that day, the next day the crew of horaders found that they too were going to have to go in search of food. That which they had laid up was no longer of any value.

It seems to me that this is much like our problem with Thanksgiving, we celebrate Thanksgiving Day once a year and for some strange reason expect this to be sufficient for the whole year.

"I wonder if God didn't really say to these people as I am sure he speaks to us a message which really means that on each day we need to spend some time in worship. Give thanks daily that daily your bread has been provided for you. Surely this must have been what God had in mind, he had seen in the Israelites this tendency to forget the giver when there was no need for another gift. He has seen in you and I an example which is much the same and possibly a whole lot worse.

"How many of our fellow men who call themselves Christian have not seen the inside of their Church or sincerely given thanks to any one for a time which has grown much too long? We at this Thanksgiving time are not too unlike those who went before us, for we are also inclined to grab up all that is in sight and even when we have good stock piles; maybe we will utter a weak thanks. Not an earnest statement of God we give thanks. No this would imply that we may be willing to give up something we treasure.

"A second approach to a true thanksgiving might be taken from Paul was saying in 1st Corinthians. Now we see through a glass darkly, but then face to face. I wonder who there is among us who is really ready to stand and see face to face.

"I believe that this may well be illustrated by the manner in which we seek out all of the By-Pass signs on the highways as we travel. Now it is for sure that is why they were built.

"By using these we all know that we are able to skirt the big city traffic, we can get to the opposite side of town in much less time and with less effort. This may be a blessing but it may also be something which we should examine a little more closely.

"As long as this line of thought implies that we have reference to an automobile let us then consider the life of an automobile. It will give satisfactory service for, let us say 100,000 miles. The tires will last also for a certain number of miles. The gasoline consumption is figured on a basis of miles traveled. From these few factors let us take a look again at the by-pass route and see if it is really worth while to look at the city darkly as we pass by from a distance.

"What is a real thanksgiving in the eyes of the Lord? How does a Christian respond to his God?

"In my humble opinion a Christian will learn to be content in whatever situation he finds himself to be, as long as his Savior is with him. This then says to me that if we are offered an opportunity to select from a field enough food for today that this is what we will do.

"We will then take time to give thanks to God for his bountiful goodness. A real Christian then would not try to take advantage of the situation by grabbing something which God has told him is not his. We will give with all the millions of people but on the next day we will be found still thankful. This then would be the beginning of the true Christian meaning of Thanksgiving.

"In the second feeble attempt we need to realize that a Christian is called on to look the situation squarely in the face. There will come a day. This may be a trite statement but the Lord has forewarned us of a day of judgment. A day when we will see clearly, when we will be face to face. Let us turn over a new leaf and start with this Thanksgiving season to do what the Lord wants us to do. Face the issues of life fairly and squarely.

Three Injured In City Accident

Three persons were injured in an accident Wednesday, at 7:55 p.m., at at the intersection of North Ranney Street and highway 61.

Mrs. Jessie H. Green, 53, route one, was driving a 1964 Oldsmobile when she pulled into the path of Walter Prindle, 17, of Oran as she was making a left turn.

Injured in the Green car was the driver. Those injured in the Prindle car were Linda Isaacs, 17, route four, and Norman Alsum, 17, of Sikeston.

Emergencies

The Missouri Delta Community Hospital received seven emergency patients Wednesday and Thursday.

Barbara Layne, Sikeston, fell out of car; Barbara McCoy, Sikeston, fell at home; Jessie Green, Sikeston, car accident; Quintin Long, St. Louis, car accident; Ernest Butler, Sikeston, car accident; James Hailey, Sikeston, cut head on bottle; Mark Stacy, Carbondale, Ill.; hit head on steel pipe.

TRADE SCHOOL CLASSIC

Neither the Army nor the Navy football teams have had very good seasons this year, but the Army-Navy game on Saturday, Nov. 27, will make the record of one team and break the record of the other. Even in a bad year the inter-service rivalry is so keen that the game stands to be the most talked about college engagement of the 1965 season. It has an added filip this year, for it represents the 75th anniversary of the first Army-Navy game.

When the "trade schools," as they are sometimes ungenerously designated, first took each other on at football, no one could have foreseen the attention that now centers on their annual game. In 1890 only a small part of the population was or had been in the armed forces. The game was played at West Point with so little accompanying ceremony that neither the Secretary of the Army or the Secretary of the Navy made the trip from Washington. Sketches showed the players wearing shirts buttoned to the neck and cone-shaped woolen caps.

If it's any augury, Navy won that first game 24 to 0, and the New York Herald was moved to observe that the West Pointers didn't know "how to play the game very well." The series, historically, is pretty even, with 31 wins for Army to 29 for Navy. There have been five ties, the most recent being the 7-to-7 standoff in 1956. Navy has dominated recently, with five straight wins before being downed, 11-to-8, in Army's stunning 1964 upset.

Much of the revenue from the service game, which in recent years has been a Philadelphia fixture, goes to the academies' private athletic association funds. The City of Brotherly Love has the East's largest stadium and throws in program and parking concessions boosting the gross by an estimated $60,000. Add TV, and each Academy gets about $750,000. Army, Navy, and Air Force academies support their elaborate intercollegiate athletic programs from football revenue that goes into the private funds. For example, Army's athletic budget, none of it financed by government, is usually $1 million. The take in 1963 was $1.6 million, but the cost of enlarging Michie Stadium from athletic association funds came to $1 1/4 million.

A nation grateful for the blessings of peace and prosperity celebrated Thanksgiving Day yesterday with prayers, parades, family reunions and turkey dinners.

It was a nation that could hardly forget the somber mood of Thanksgiving, 2 years ago, which came within a week of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

President Johnson said in a message to the armed forces, issued in Johnson City, Tex.: "Today all Americans thank the blessings of the Lord for the bounty of their land. In homes at peace, in houses of worship that are untouched by rancor or anger, families are gathered in gratitude for all that God has given them and for the blessings that he has rained upon our nation."

He noted that many servicemen would not be with their families. "But all of us here at home remember you with gratitude," he said.

Churches held special services and in some communities Protestants and Catholics joined in a common observance of Thanksgiving, a practice begun last year in the new spirit of church unity.

The day was celebrated in Plymouth, Mass., which most Americans think of as the site of the first Thanksgiving, and in Virginia, which claims that Berkeley Hundred, near Jamestown, Va., held the original Thanksgiving.

Parades signaled today the approach of the next big holiday, Christmas. They were being held in New York City, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Albuquerque, N. M.; Charlotte, N. C., and Detroit, among other cities.

Cities, churches, charity groups and individuals provided turkey dinners for the poor and homeless in many areas.

If a community could be judged for the spontaneous thoughtful, friendly and kindly acts of neighbors and friends Sikeston certainly has earned its place in the sun.

Everybody agrees that Paul C. Meyer deserves the radio set Sikeston people gave him. He has more than earned it but it is wonderful to see anyone toasted at a banquet and given a remembrance for any job well done. It is easy to ignore or take for granted good deeds. As long as Meyer is a citizen there always will be a Santa Claus.

He has gladdened the hearts of hundreds of Sikeston youngsters and their parents by appearances in their homes on Christmas Eve. It has been a thoughtful, kindly, volunteer act motivated by a deserve to serve. His only reward has been to look into happy faces at the holiday season.

We hope that Meyers is spared for many years to carry on this useful work of spreading Christmas cheer.

The least we can do is to wish him a Merry Christmas and many more of them. We are grateful for his efforts and he now has tangible evidence that this feeling is shared by the entire community.

IN THERE PITCHING

The ordinary human mind cannot possibly envision 18.5 billion miles. Nor can it digest such a figure as 310 million passengers.

But these statistics are part of the railroads' record for a single year, 1963. In that brief span they carried those 310 million passengers 18.5 billion passenger - miles. And they did that huge job with only 13 passenger fatalities -- their best record in four years. By way of comparison, 28,900 people died in automobile accidents.

The 13 fatalities included only three resulting from major accidents. The other 10 stemmed from passenger carelessness such as trying to board or leave a moving train.

This is a remarkable record. And it was not just the result of chance or good luck. "Safety first" is always at the top of the list of railroad operating rules. Every workable step is taken to eliminate the cause of accidents -- and the spectacular results prove the efficacy of this policy.

Beyond that, the 310 million passenger figure certainly shows that -- contrary to the thinking of many people -- railroad passenger traffic is neither dead nor dying. Great numbers of us like to ride the trains. We like the leisure, the service, the chance for a pleasant rest while vacationing or between business appointments. And railroads are responding with better passenger service on runs where patronage shows that it is justified and wanted. The Iron Horse is right in there pitching.

AN AUTHENTIC AMERICAN TRAGEDY

In the classical definition a tragedy is a story in which human beings act out a hopeless drama against the background of an inexorable and inevitable fate.

The trial in Hayneville, Ala., fits this category. Even though a farce through and through, it was basically a tragedy. Its outcome, like that of all other similar trials in the South, was a foregone conclusion.

It does not really matter whether the man accused of killing a civil rights worker was guilty of murder or not. It does not matter that the charge was arbitrarily reduced to manslaughter, nor that the prosecution was not permitted time to produce its key witness.

The verdict would have been the same in any event.

What matters is that there will be more such cases in the future, and that the rest of the nation outside the South will no more expect justice in them than it has learned to expect it in the past.

It would be useless for others to condemn those involved in the Hayneville trial for betraying one of the fundamental principles on which the strength and integrity of American depends -- that of equality before the law. Caught as they are in their inherited prejudices, it is obvious that they are entirely ignorant of the meaning of this principle.

By their verdict they have condemned themselves.

HOW TO ACT -- WHEN BUYING A NEW SUIT!

The average man, trying on a suit for the first time in a clothing store, just stands there in front of a mirror -- and either likes or does not like what he sees. That, however, is only a part of the "try-on" -- If he wants fit, comfort and good looks, for real satisfaction, first put everything that you normally carry -- wallet, keys, handkerchief, etc. --into the pockers of the suit. Second, see if the garment looks and feels good that way. Third, sit down in a chair, relax, slouch or however you sit -- and see if it's okay that way. If it passes inspection these three ways, you'll be getting a properly fitting and good-looking suit for your money!

THE ONE AND ONLY ATTITUDE

A short time ago the Defense Department closed 26 domestic installations in this country. They had become obsolete, they no longer served a useful purpose and represented a needless drain on the taxpayers' money.

In the days following, news media recorded many cries of protest. Some came from affected business groups, some from civic organizations, some from Congressmen of the regions concered. "But," says a publication of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, "these adverse reactions were fewer than might be expected. In contrast, many business organizations in the areas affected expressed their approval although regretting the necessity of the closings. Their reaction can be summarized like this:

"We cannot have our cake and eat it, too; we cannot demand reduced government expenditures and then howl like a banshee when an economy move adversely affects our area."

Let us all devoutly hope that this is a correct appraisal. For, the attitude it describes is the only one which can make possible, and bring about, urgently needed economies in government -- whether in the defense complex or in any other activity.

TRENDS AND HOW TO TURN THEM

If there is one proposition in America today that practically everybody would agree on, it is that the trend in this country is toward bigger and bigger government. Some hail this trend; others decry it. But few will deny that it is there.

In and of itself, the existence of this trend gives those who like it what seems to be an exceedingly powerful weapon in their cause. In a thousand different ways they repeat the theme: the trend is running our way and whether you like it or not, you have to follow along.

Allied with this is the curious argument, sometimes expressed, sometimes merely implied, that since the trend is running toward big government and restricted freedom, that trend must be sound and right, and opposition to it is hostility to "progress."

It is worthwhile to note that neither of these arguments deterred the architects of Fabian socialism when they began their work in America sixty years ago. In those days the trend still ran toward freedom and there was real progress. This did not prevent the Fabian socialists from starting a new trend and riding it to one victory after another.

Historic trends are made by men who know what they want and work hard to get it. They are made by men who do not measure right and wrong by majority vote, but by their own thinking. They are made by men who do not fear to denounce any errors of their contemporaries, however far-reaching. Men like that today, who believe in freedom, can still turn the tide.

Businessmen's Political Action Committee Calls Top Strategists To National Parley to Give Labor a Run in '66 Campaign

NEW YORK--On November 16 the President of the U. S. dispatched a promissory note to his good friend, the president of the auto workers' union. It was a "Dear Walter" letter. And it pledged to Reuther the unleashing of a White House drive for the passage of the remaining labor program when the Congress returns from home and hearth.

There was nothing "iffy" about the President's promise to fight for the labor leaders' most prized objectives of the '65 session -- repeal of the law which makes it possible for the states to ban the union shop; higher and wider minimum wages and longer and steadier unemployment insurance.

". . .many vital objectives have not been attained," said the President, in the two-page letter after recounting the victories in the recent Congressional session.

"Amendment of the Fair Labor Standards Act and the Unemployment Insurance laws is part of the unfinished business of the Congress and the Nation. These must be given high priority.

"We have made significant progress in 1965 toward the long-sought goal of repealing Section 14(b). Just as we had to come back last year to finish the unfinished battle for Medicare, we will come back in the next session to remove this devisive provision from the law."

The letter closed with greetings to the AFL-CIO Industrial Union Dept.'s annual convention. The President hoped the parley would "prove highly productive and fruitful for the men and women you represent and for the Nation you serve so faithfully."

This letter has become a conversation piece among businessmen in the big town. They are realists. They know that power is in votes -- and that the Congressmen whom the businessmen count as friends just don't count up high enough to stop the labor drive up the Hill.

These industrialists -- among whom Reuther would not exactly win a most popular personality contest -- don't blame him and the other labor leaders for getting the jump on them. They rue it. And they're organizing here in an effort to beat him at his own political game.

For some time now this column has been chronicling the life and hard times of their brainchild, the Business-Industry Political Action Committee (BIPAC). It is directed by two modest men in a modest office at 14 W. 49 in a mood which is as rueful as it is hopeful.

In less than two years BIPAC has set up State Businessmen's Political Committees in some 30 states.

On Dec. 1 the committee chiefs --most of them prominent business executives -- will meet for an afternoon in the Waldorf. They'll talk for an hour or so; exchange experiences, discuss expansion into every state during the 1966 Congressional campaign; grab a cocktail and head into the most uncertain competition of their careers.

They'll attempt to have enough political apparatus to meet labor's Committee on Political Education head on in 103 Congressional districts.

Most of them have not yet heard of the "Dear Walter" letter. But all of them are fully aware of the successful alliance of labor and liberals and most of the Democratic Party.

The industrialists are wasting no time on rancor or recriminations. They're building up a new "sales" front.

"It took COPE 20 years to get it where it is now," said one of the strategists recently. "The trade union boys realized very early what basic power there is in politics. But in general the business people have not yet recognized this, strange as it seems. Or if they've recognized it, they hadn't moved until we began organizing BIPAC."

But how to compete with COPE whose unions have 14 million members well organized in nearly every state. BIPAC's directors believe there is ample manpower--and more-- on the business side. They reckon that there are 5 million business establishments in the country and "almost 30 million people in the proprietory, managerial, supervisory, clerical, sales and professional categories." They really have more potential manpower than does labor.

How to reach them? BIPAC's tacticians have been urging "the chief executive officer" of each business "to address a personal letter to each of his associates, enclosing BIPAC information and a membership application." They say it works.

It may take some time before they give labor a run on the political front. But the fight sure is looming.

NEW YORK AP -- What to do with leftover turkey?

This is the problem that will face many American families today.

Unlike a chicken, which quits growing when there is enough of it to satisfy anybody, a turkey is an architectural extravaganza.

People have been saying for some time that something ought to be done about the turkey, the wattled token of the noblest of American holidays-Thanksgiving.

As a matter of fact, something is being done about the turkey, According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, whose bulletins I recommend as a remedy for middle-aged insomnia, the turkey is getting both larger and smaller.

I understand it now ranges in weight at maturity from eight to 75 pounds.

In our upside down civilization the size of the turkey on the Thanksgiving table is a status symbol.

The richer you are the smaller the turkey you order--and the more per pound you pay for it.

The poorer you are, the larger the turkey you buy--and the less per pound you pay for it.

The rich don't have much of a problem, They eat their turkey at a single meal, then sail the bones out their penthouse window and start looking forward to Christmas.

The poor, as usual, are stuck.

To begin with, their turkey is so large that the children sprain their wrists trying to break the wishbone.

Their ordeal begins the day after Thanksgiving. What to do with leftover turkey?

For several days a wife can dice it and hash it. After that her husband and kids refuse to have anything to do with it. The dog won't eat it. The cat walks away from it.

Things that can be done:

It can be ground up and mixed with starch and used as wallpaper paste.

You can be patriotic about it, and offer it to the U.S. Navy as ballast.

You can wrap it in anonymous paper and mail it as a CARE package to wealthy friends.

On some dark midnight you can take it out and bury it in the back yard, muttering as you do so, "No one knows the real troubles of poverty."

Then, if you buckle down and work real hard, maybe by next Thanksgiving you can earn enough money to afford a smaller turkey.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON -- Vice Admiral Glynn R. Donaho, Commander of the Military Sea Transportation Service, has been scrambling frantically to find enough American ships to carry supplies to Viet Nam.

At present he hasn't got them. Fifty ships laid up in the reserve fleet from World War II has been put back into service -- at a high cost -- but despite this there just aren't enough U.S. flag ships to carry supplies to Viet Nam.

This, together with the tragedy of the Yarmouth Castle, a Panamanian flag ship which cost the lives of 89 passengers, focuses attention upon the tremendous number of American companies putting their ships under Panamanian, Liberian, or Honduran flags.

The total number of U. S. ships under these three flags, as of Jan. 1, 1964, was 409. And the companies using them are not fly-by-night operators but some of the biggest in the USA.

They included Standard Oil of New Jersey, Texaco, Gulf Oil, Standard Oil of California, and Socony -- Mobil, these five owning over half of the American tankers registered under the Panamanian and Liberian flags.

Two giants of the aluminum industry -- Alcoa and Reynolds metals -- also use foreign flag ships to transport their bauxite.

Another category of foreign flag shippers carries iron ore from Venezuela and other foreign sources -- Bethlehem Steel; the National Steel Corporation, owned by ex-Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey; Permanente Cement, owned by the Kaiser family; U. S. Gypsum, and Utah Construction and Mining.

Finally, the American sugar refinery carries sugar, also regarded as strategic, in foreign flag ships.

TAX-SAVING VESSELS

These ships never sail into the ports of the countries whose flags they fly. Probably none of them have been to Panama, Liberia, or Honduras. They do not employ the citizens of Panama, Liberia, or Honduras, and they do not pay any income taxes to those countries. Liberia, for instance, requires a vessel to pay an initial registry tax of 10 cents per ton.

More important, these vessels do not pay taxes to the United States, nor for the most part do they hire American citizens or comply with U.S. safety standards. The money they make is kept abroad and they avoid paying the 52 per cent corporation tax.

Meanwhile the five oil companies which operate these ships, Standard of New Jersey, Texaco, Gulf, Standard of California and Socony, racked up record earnings of nearly $1.3 billion during the first six months of 1964. They are also enjoying the 27½ per cent oil depletion allowance.

With the Defense Department desperately hard up for shipping to Viet Nam, some officials wonder whether this is the time to take over these foreign flag vessels.

BALKY FOREIGN CREWS

The alternative is to hire foreign bottoms. However, many foreign crews refuse to carry U. S. war supplies. Mexico, for instance, advised the United States Aug. 24 that no Mexican ships would be permitted to carry cargo to Viet Nam. For this reason the SS El Mexicano was unloaded at Long Beach, Calif., though chartered by States Marine Lines, the company owned by former CIA Chief John McCone.

El Mexicano's cargo was shifted to the Embiricos, but on Aug. 30 its Greek crew refused to sail to Viet Nam, and its cargo was shifted a second time to the Bay state, owned by States Marine.

One week later in Tacoma, Wash., the Greek Freighter Marilena P. refused to sail and its cargo was transferred to the Moormacriegel, an American ship.

The British flag freighter London Craftsman was twice held up en route to Viet Nam, first in Kobe, Japan, because her Indian crew refused to sail to Viet Nam; Later in Hong Kong when Chinese replacements for the Indian crew refused to sail.

Also held up were the British flag ship Elys Harbour in Brisbane, Australia, and the tanker Hemisusus in the Netherlands, both with Chinese crews, supposedly with nationalist backgrounds. However, they refused to carry war cargoes to Viet Nam.

XMAS GIFTS TO GI'S

So many Americans have donated cookies, cakes and other Christmas presents to GIs in Viet Nam as a token of their support that the Defense Department is swamped, hasn't got available transportation.

One alternative solution could be public contributions to USO, which has been asked to triple its work in Viet Nam to entertain 150,000 U.S. troops.

This means raising another $1 million for the USO. Dollars can be shipped to Viet Nam without breaking down the flow of all-important military supplies. They are much easier to transport than cookies, books, etc., and USO clubs are deeply appreciated.

Hodding Carter, Mississippi editorial needler, reminded Everett Mitchell, Grand Cyclops of the Ku Klux Klan, that he "probably didn't have much time to read Grecian myths. So he doesn't know who the original Cyclops was -- a one- eyed Moron who tended sheep. ". . . WASHINGTON -- When the cause of the great northwestern power failure was discovered, faces inside the Federal Power Commission turned red enough to be seen in a blackout.

For a tiny relay, scarcely three inches long, had caused a massive failure that the FPC had claimed H-bombs couldn't produce.

In a 425-page report last year, the FPC boasted that the interconnected power system would keep power flowing into damaged areas. Thus a massive failure was deemed unlikely even in the event of a nuclear attack.

Yet it was precisely this interconnected system which produced the chain reaction that blacked out most of the northeast from Canada to New York City.

"Today," declared the FPC report, "an interconnected group of power systems covering 39 central and eastern states and two Canadian provinces are inter-tied sufficiently to enable their 165,000,000 kilowatts of electrical generation to operate in parallel. . .

"The greater interconnection of systems enhances survivability. More specifically, it decreases the probability that a given service area would be totally without power."

PUBLISHER SUES IRS

How Internal Revenue sleuths tapped wires, this time those of a newspaper publisher, is disclosed in court charges brought by Wilton E. Hall, publisher of the Anderson, S. C., Daily Mail.

Tax sleuths were seen sitting in a car outside of Hall's home for several days, and later two experts on wire tapping, Harold K. Lipset and Ralph H. Bertsche, were brought in on the case and discovered a small radio transmitter attached to the telephone junction box near the Hall residence.

Chief of Police Parker clamp of Anderson and Hall's attorney then sat in a car three blocks from the Hall residence and were able to listen to Mrs. Hall's conversation with her daughter on the telephone---thanks to the radio transmitter which had been placed in the phone junction box.

Chief of Police Clamp has impounded the radio transmitter and Hall has filed charges against Internal Revenue.

U. S. CHAMPION OF DICTATORS

John Vaughn, hard-nosed assistant Secretary of State, is in for senatorial trouble when he comes back to Washington from the Rio De Janeiro conference.

He has already tangled with Sen. Robert Kennedy in a huffy session in which Vaughn criticized the late President Kennedy for suspending aid to the Peruvian military government in 1962 and the Dominican military government in 1963. Vaughn put himself on the side of the military dictators.

In Washington Vaughn is also in for trouble with the Chairman of the Senate Subcommittee on Latin American affairs, Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore. The military - minded assistant Secretary of State has been quoted as saying that it was typical of liberals and leftists not to realize that the only progress made in Latin America is by the military governments.

"Sen. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, is the only one who understands Latin America," Vaughn was quoted as saying. "He gets out and visits the slums."

"Someone ought to send Vaughn the roll call on housing and slum clearance," grunted Hickenlooper's Democratic colleague from Oregon. Morse referred to the fact that Hickenlooper has voted against almost every slum clearance and public housing bill to come before the Senate.

DINNER FOR PRINCESS

It was surprising how many people qualified as "Young" at the White House party for Princess Margaret -- among them Justice Abe Fortas of the Supreme Court, aged 55, and Secretary of Defense McNamara, aged 49. . .Johnson did what Truman and Eisenhower did when they entertained royalty -- though not JFK. Johnson invited most of his White House Staff to attend the Princess Margaret dinner. Kennedy left the staff out to make room for outsiders. Ike invited members of his family and so did Truman. . . on one occasion when Prime Minister Attlee of England had flown across the Atlantic especially to see Truman, he kept the Prime Minister of England waiting a full day while he, Harry, entertained Gen. David Sarnoff, then head of NBC, who had just given a singing job to daughter Margaret. Attlee wasn't even included in the White House luncheon.

ONE MAN'S VICTORY

Credit a freshman Congressman, supposed to be seen and not heard, with canceling the Warsaw Pact, an agreement whereby all international airlines are limited to $8,300 damages in case a passenger is killed or injured. Rep. Lester Wolff, D-N. Y., crusaded to cancel this agreement negotiated before World War II when the airlines weren't making money. One recent award agreed to by American airlines totaled over $900,000 in contrast to the limit the foreign airlines were required by treaty to pay -- $8,300.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara was fit to be tied when Adlai Stevenson was quoted as saying McNamara blocked peace talks with North Viet Nam in the late Fall of 1964. The Secretary of Defense was happier after the victory over the aluminum companies. He turned up at Averell Harriman's costume party, his face painted with aluminum, carrying a copper shield to war off the aluminum industry. Mrs. McNamara wore an evening dress with tennis shoes, the bridge of her nose built up with plastic . . . Bobby Kennedy is reported negotiating to buy a New York newspaper . . Dorothey Kilgallen, the Broadway columnist, had just taken a drastic cut from her newspaper syndicate before she took sleeping pills.

Mrs. Gerald Michael Bird

Shabie Sue Proffer Is Bride Of Gerald Michael Bird

MATTHEWS -- Miss Shabie Sue Proffer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Proffer of Matthews, route two, became the bride of Gerald Michael Bird, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Bird of Advance, route two, at 4 p.m. on Sunday, Nov. 14. The Rev. Myron E. Neal performed the double ring ceremony at the Sikeston First Christian Church.

Daniel Malone rendered a program of appropriate selections preceding the ceremony, the traditional marches, and accompanied the vocalist, Mrs. Gary Rewtzel, of Advance.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a coat and sheath ensemble of silk-face peau de soie. The formal strapless sheath gown was adorned with a bodice of Alencon lace which was sprinkled with seed pearls and hand cut crystal beads. The luxurious coat of peau de soie was fitted at the waist and closed under the bust with covered buttons to emphasize the lace bodice of the sheath. It featured capucci type sleeves which were adorned with pearl and crystal beaded Alencon lace inserts accented with two tiny rosebuds. The skirt of the coat swept into a full chapel train and was adorned with lace inserts accented with tiny rose buds. Her veil, made of silk illusion, fell into a full chapel train and was secured by a crown of seed pearls, hand-cut crystal beads, and peau de soie rosebuds. Her bouquet was of butterfly roses.

Mrs. Michael Proffer, the bride's sister-in - law of Matthews, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were the Miss Linda Bird and Miss Donna Wagley, of Matthews, Miss Louanna Sutton, Canalou; Miss Beth Bird, sister of the groom, of Advance; and Mrs. David Hall of Sikeston.

The matron of honor wore a floor-length gown of emerald green silk brocade. The gown was fashioned with an empire waist, featuring a round neckline and camelot sleeves accented with tiny rosebuds. The controlled skirt was adorned with a pleat on both sides and held in place with two tiny rose buds. The back of the skirt was gathered to give it a "flowing" effect. The headpiece was an emerald green silk brocade pillbox trimmed with white fur and a nosetip veil. She carried a matching white fur muff accented with a single American Beauty rose.

The bridesmaids were attired in ensembles of the same style but American beauty rose in color. They all wore matching satin shoes.

Gretchen Rewtzel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Rewtzel, was flower girl. She wore a gown identical to that of the bridesmaids and carried a white fur-trimmed basket filled with American beauty roses. Gaither Daugherty, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Gaither Daugherty of Sikeston, was ring bearer.

A candelabra filled with tall white tapers and four baskets of American beauty roses adorned the altar of the church.

Gerald Bird served his son as best man. Groomsmen were Gary Rewtzel, Donald Rhodes, and Larry Van Gennip, all of Advance; and Michael Proffer, brother of the bride, of Matthews. Charles Thomas Proffer, brother of the bride, was an usher.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony at the Holiday Inn with Mrs. Rebecca Sharp of New Madrid in charge. Servers were Miss Deene Ann Whitten, Miss Sue Fusselman, Miss Jan Engram, and Miss Betty Lewis. They wore pink dresses and a corsage of American beauty roses. Miss Mary Jane Steward of Piedmont, who presided at the guest book, wore an emerald green brocade sheath.

Black ornamental screens twined with ivy and red roses formed the background for the reception table. It was covered with a white brocade cloth overlaid with net which was caught in swags with white wedding bells. The four-tiered wedding cake was topped with pink bells and flanked with silver candelabra with white tapers. Silver coffee service and punch bowl were on either end of the table. Nuts and mints were served from silver compotes.

The couple left immediately following the ceremony for a wedding trip to Lake of the Ozarks.

Mrs. Bird was graduated from Matthews High School in 1964. She attended Southeast Missouri State College one year.

Mr. Bird was graduated from Advance High School in 1961. He was employed with the H. C. Price Pipe Line Co. until 1964. He is presently employed with his father in farming and the fertilizer business. The couple will make their home at Advance.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Bird entertained with the rehearsal dinner at the Holiday Inn on Saturday evening, Nov. 13. Those attending other than in the wedding party were Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Shell of Advance, grandparents of the groom; Miss Jan Ingram of Vanduser, Mack Spitzmiller of Bloomfield, Mrs. Lyle Bird and Mrs. Paul Farrenburg of Matthews, and Mr. and Mrs. Gaither Daugherty of Sikeston.

REACH JOINT GOAL

LAFAYETTE, Calif. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Sam Goldeen have four children and two law degrees. The couple have just passed their California State Bar examinations after five years during which their study of law books occupied every spare moment.

In addition Barbara looked after the children and the house, cooked, baked and sewed. Her husband worked six days and one night each week at a men's and boys' wear store in which he is a partner.

The Modern Christian

Can Anger Help The Christian?

When we speak of anger, we are referring to the instinctive urge to suppress and repel whatever is hostile to us. This force in man, when well-ordered, is a tremendous help in attaining lofty objectives.

Too often, anger is seen merely as a liability, and a negation it will be, unless a man reconstructs its force to a commitment of value. The Christian ideal is not nonchalant resignation. The Lord himself is a striking example of manly anger. He was certainly not a piece of driftwood that floated with every popular current of the day.

"He overturned the tables of the money-changers", because he was angry and did not want the present state of conditions to continue. We must distinguish in anger between emotional agitation stirring within us and the conscious consent to it. If man allows anger to control him, he is in a state of disorder. Anger is for man, and not the other way around.

To be stirred to greater anger over the mistakes and faults of others than our own, which are no less serious, is the example of a man controlled by anger. A wholesome sense of humor which enables us to see ourselves in the mistakes of others is a marvelous thing. We need to accept ourselves in weakness and in strength. We need to assess the force of anger that lies within us and channel it well, and surely, not against wife or husband, children or friends.

Anger need not be an inordinate urge to crush what we do not like. Rather, anger can help us to overcome the difficult and arduous. Anger controlled is the path to Christian maturity.

Decision Takes Two-Seconds

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Glenn Dobbs is not one to make rash decisions. So the Tulsa coach gave long and careful consideration to the invitation for his football team to appear in the Bluebonnet Bowl game.

It took, oh, about two seconds.

"It just so happens we can go," Dobbs said after his swift-striking Hurricane had stormed over Colorado State University 48-20 Thursday with the record-breaking passing combination of Billy Anderson to Howard Twilley setting still more national marks.

Tulsa, which finished at 8-2, will play Tennessee in the Dec. 18 game in Houston. Tennessee, 5-1-2, has two games left, including Saturday's match with Vanderbilt.

"This is the greatest thrill of my life," said Twilley, who finished second in the Heisman Trophy voting and comes from a Houston suburb.

Anderson, who passed for a national record 502 yards against Colorado State, had to engineer a big last quarter. Leading only 21-20, Anderson clicked on last-quarter touchdown passes covering 60, 63, 51 and 13 yards.

Nebraska, ranked third in the nation, closed out a 10-0 regular season, its first perfect season in 50 years, with a 21-9 comeback against Oklahoma; Texas rallied for a 21-17 decision over Texas A&M, Cornell crushed Penn 38-14 and Virginia Tech beat VMI 44-13 in the other major Thanksgiving Day games.

The long football weekend continues Saturday with a flock of traditional games, topped by the Army-Navy match in Philadelphia.

Navy is a one-touchdown favorite in the game, which has little but tradition to recommend it this year. The Middies are 4-4-1 and Army is 4-5, with Navy working against a tougher schedule.

Probably the most important game is Alabama's meeting with Auburn in Birmingham. Both are bound for bowl games, and the winner takes the Southeastern Conference title with him.

Alabama, 7-1-1 and Nebraska's opponent in the Orange Bowl, is ranked fifth nationally and is favored. Auburn, bolstered by an invitation to the Liberty Bowl, is 5-3-1 over-all, but 4-0-1 in the SEC. Both 'Bama and Auburn were tied by Tennessee.

In some of the other traditional games, Gator Bowl-bound Georgia Tech plays Georgia, Boston College is at Holy Cross, Arizona at Arizona State, Florida State at Sugar Bowl-bound Florida, Mississippi at Mississippi State, Baylor at Rice and Southern Methodist at Texas Christian.

Notre Dame, ranked sixth after losing last week's tough battle with Michigan State, closes out at Miami, Wyoming is at Southern California, Brigham Young at New Mexico, and West Texas State at Texas Western in others.

Nebraska Coach Gives His Team Number One Spot

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

LINCOLN, Neb. AP - Nebraska's talented team has given Bob Devaney his first perfect season in college football, and the nation's winningest coach made it clear he considers his team No. 1 no matter how the national poll voting goes.

"This is the high point of my career," he said Thanksgiving Day after his Big Eight champs rallied to whip stubborn Oklahoma 21 - 9 before 52,865 and a national television audience.

The normally unemotional Huskers, ranked third nationally, tossed Devaney and his assistants under the showers.

"This is the best team we've ever had and these boys are as good as anybody," Devaney said. "The 1963 team 10-1, Orange Bowl, Big Eight champs was good but it lost one. This year's team maintained its poise in tough situations.

"It has better personnel, more talent, more depth and it's more explosive. Many times it's harder to win 10 when everybody expects it than when you sneak up on it."

Nebraska locked up its first perfect season since 1915 and will take a 10-0 record against once-beaten Alabama in the Orange Bowl.

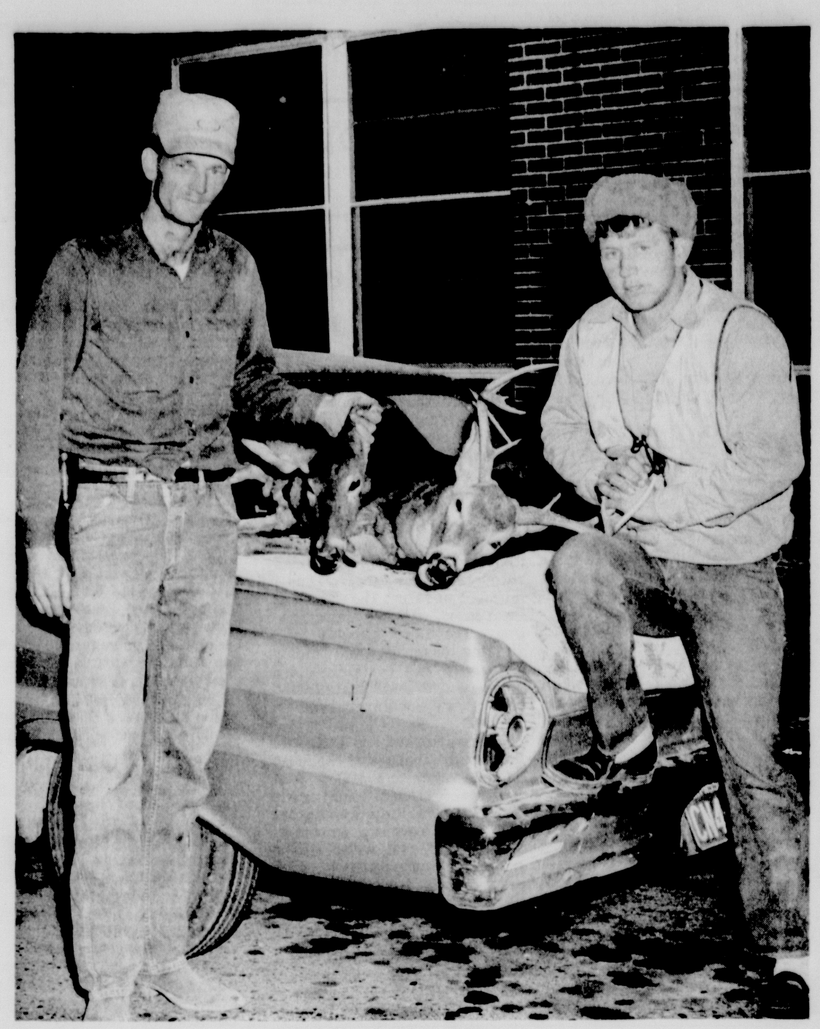

Devaney thinks this one may be the best bowl games this season.

"Just look at Alabama's great bowl record," he said.

Devaney's 73-15-5 record for an .812 percentage leads the nation's active college coaches. He is 38-5 at Nebraska, with four bowl teams and three straight Big Eight crowns. At Wyoming his record was 35-10-5.

Halfback Harry Light Horse Wilson led the Huskers Thursday with a 66-yard touchdown run and raced behind the secondary for a 38-yard TD pass from Bob Churchich, both in the third quarter.

The Huskers gained revenge for Oklahoma's season-ending 17-7 upset last year that spoiled a perfect record. But they had to do it the hard way. The fired-up Sooners hit hard, blocked a punt and pounced on three fumbles for a 9-0 lead. Charlie (Choo Choo) Winters made it 9-7 at halftime with a 29-yard TD blast, running over two men.

Unitas Survives Rough Holiday

By BERNIE KENNEDY
Associated Press Sports Writer

DETROIT AP -- Johnny Unitas survived one of his roughest days in the National Football League Thursday but Detroit Coach Harry Gilmer said things might have been different if his Lions could have the final 24 seconds of the game back.

Unitas, battered by the Lions all afternoon and held to 14 completions in 34 attempts, tossed three scoring passes as the Colts gained a 24-24 tie and retained their one-game lead over Green Bay in the NFL's Western Conference.

Unitas completed only six passes in the second half, five of them were in the final quarter, including 51 and 15-yard scoring tosses to John Mackey.

The Lions, who held the Colts twice deep in their own territory before the tying score, got their last chance when Pat Studstill called for a fair catch on the Baltimore 42 with 24 seconds to go.

Milt Plum, noticing the clock was running, threw the ball out of bounds and Wayne Walker missed on a 50-yard field goal try in the final seconds.

Two Giants In Golf Spotlight

By BEN THOMAS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LAFAYETTE, La. AP -- Two blond giants who hit a golf ball a country mile were in the spotlight today as the $30,179 Cajun Classic -- traditionally the final tourney on the PGA national circuit each year -- went into its second round.

One is Jack Nicklaus, who not only has won two Masters' titles but has become a master of about all he can see on the fairways in just four years.

The other is Paul Bondeson, a 25-year-old ex - paratrooper who has never won a tournament. He had to lay off the tour during the summer to get what he calls his attitude straightened out.

By attitude, Bondeson - who made his first start in a PGA tourney at the Cajun Classic four years ago -- means his tendency to get rattled and despondent over a bad shot and blow sky high.

Bondeson cut six strokes off par for a 66 and the first round lead in the Cajun Classic Thursday. A bogey on the final hole, a par 3 with a yawning lagoon in front of the green which he overshot, kept the handsome swinger from having a 65.

There's another golfer in good position to win his first tournament. John Josephson, a youngster from New Jersey who's playing in his first PGA tourney, carded a 68 and shared second place two strokes behind Bondeson with eight others including tour fixtures Frank Beard and Bert Weaver, No pro --not Nicklaus, nor Arnie Palmer, nor Gary Player--ever won his first time out.

Nicklaus, despite trouble with two par 5 holes remained in contention with a 69.

The Golden Bear electrified the gallery following him on the beautiful 75 degree Thanksgiving Day by booming a drive almost 400 yards on one par 5. Then he took a nine iron and hit the pit. The ball rolled past two feet and the Columbus, Ohio shotmaker tapped it in for an eagle.

Bondeson also got an eagle on a par 5, using a four wood on his second shot to place the ball four inches away from the cup.

In ancient Egypt, persons convicted of being gamesters or dice players were sent to the quarries. The Hindu code denounced gambling; the Talmudic law declared acceptance of gambling winnings to be thievery; the rabbis of the second temple classed gambling as a form of robbery and banned gamblers from the witness stand. The Koran prohibited gambling and Aristotle denounced gamblers as thieves and plunderers.

Trick Play Used In Texas-A&M Game

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. AP - The Texas - Texas A&M game may have meant nothing except pride to its participants, but those who saw it Thursday will never forget a trick play that becomes part of the football lore of the Southwest Conference.

Texas won 21-17 with a mighty comeback effort but that wasn't all that had 40,000 fans screaming from the start of the second period until the end.

The sensational trick that brought an Aggie touchdown at the end of a 91-yard play was the product of the imagination of Coach Gene Stallings of Texas A&M.

"I used it in an intrasquad game while coaching at Alabama," said Stallings, "but not the way we did it today."

The play consisted of the quarterback throwing a lateral that bounced on the ground and exhibiting disgust that the couldn't get the ball up. The other played at the end of the lateral picked up the ball and stamped his foot to indicate his disgust, too. With the opposition lulled, he ran with the ball.

But the Aggies added something to it.

Here's what happened: A & M had the ball on its nine. Harry Ledbetter, the quarterback, threw toward Jim Kauffmann over close to the sideline. The ball bounced into Kauffmann's hands. Ledbetter and Kauffmann did the acting expected of them. Then when Texas thought it was just an incomplete pass, Kauffmann threw to Ken McLean, the great Aggie end, waiting at the 50-yard line with no one ahead of him. McLean ran for the touchdown, unmolested.

This so shocked Texas that the Longhorns played too cautiously and the Aggies added another touchdown and field goal to lead 17-0 at the half.

But during the intermission Coach Darrell Royal, who said of the trick play, "I've never heard of it before; never saw anybody nervy enough to try it," told his team a thing or two.

Marvin Kristynik, playing his last game for Texas, led the Longhorns in one of the great comebacks of Texas football history. His passing and running paved the way for three touchdowns, and Texas beat Texas A& M the ninth time in a row.

A pair of lifelong sweethearts, Judge and Mrs. Frank H. Smith, re-lived their 50 years of married life Tuesday as friends and relatives helped them celebrate their golden wedding anniversary.

Miss Peggy Dalton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Blair Dalton of Sikeston, and Bill Swacker youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Art Swacker of Atlanta, Ga., will be united in marriage on Friday afternoon, the ceremony to take place at the Sikeston Methodist church, with the pastor, the Rev. M. G. Joyce, officiating.

PRAYER For Today From The Upper Room

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 26

I have learned, in whatsoever state I am, therewith to be content. (Philippians 4:11)

PRAYER: Father, teach us to face life with the gratitude characteristic of Thy redeemed children. How grateful we are that Thou hast given us light and power to meet every situation and person in our daily experiences as sons and daughters of Thine. May we permit our lives to be channels through which the Holy Spirit may flow into the hearts of all we meet. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

ANN LANDERS Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a blue-eyed brunet raised on a farm near Alpena, Michigan. I came to Detroit, got a job as a secretary and fell in love with a prominent executive in the automobile industry. Greg was evasive about where he lived but I never pushed it. Yesterday he telephoned to say he had the flu and couldn't keep our date. I decided to surprise him with a honey and lemon syrup my grandmother used to make. I got his address from the office manager.

Greg was sick all right and when he opened the door and saw me he got a whole lot sicker. The first thing I noticed was a satin housecoat and some ostrich feather bedroom slippers. He said, "I know what you're thinking and you're wrong. That stuff belongs to a sweet kid from Sheboygan who is out of work and needed a place to stay. She'll be out of here tomorrow."

I called him a liar and left. When I got home the phone was ringing. He begged me to believe him. Would you?
--EGG ON MY FACE

Dear Egg: Would I believe your big - hearted Romeo is playing housemother to a busted kid from Sheboygan? No. I would not. And neither should you.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a dentist who is 86 years old and have been practicing since 1903. Your column on how some dentists handled emergencies was fascinating.

I have had many emergency calls and I've never turned away a patient in pain, even though another patient had to wait.

My most memorable experience occurred many years ago. It was 1:00 a.m. on a bitter cold night. A patient called, and he was in agony and asked me to meet him at my office and give him some relief.

I got out of bed, dressed in the warmest clothing I could find and headed for the office. He was waiting at the door. After I gave him an injection of local anesthetic he smiled broadly and said, "Thanks a million, Doc, I've had this darned toothache for three weeks and it feels better now than it has in all that time."

I didn't say what I was thinking, but it wasn't easy to keep quiet.

I have read your column regularly and I think you give some really level - headed advice. --DR. H. C. F.

Dear Doctor: Thank you for a delightful letter. And how blessed is your community to have had you as a practicing dentist for 62 years!

Dear Ann Landers: I am surprised at you -- telling that woman to consider court action just because her husband hit her over the head with a suitcase. After all, he was showing her that he cared.

This man probably was a little upset over something and he didn't really WANT to leave. He was only pretending that he wanted to leave--to test his wife's love.

I know how it is with my husband. Every once in a while he loses his temper and socks me. But I accept it as a compliment. If he didn't love me he wouldn't get so mad. Even though he has his little faults I would follow him to the end of the earth because I love him. Well? -- B'S WIFE

Dear Wife: No. Sick.

Unsure of yourself on dates? What's right? What's wrong? Should you? Shouldn't you? Send for Ann Landers' booklet "Dating Do's and Don'ts," enclosing with your request 35¢ in coin and a long, self-addressed stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Drumming It Up

A BANDLEADER'S DAUGHTER, Lori Ann Wagner, 5, Milwaukee, Wis., is the 1966 National March of Dimes Poster Child. Here, at the drums, she's whooping it up for the cause she symbolizes. Pretty child was born with an open spine and is paralyzed below waist. Every year in U.S. 250,000 babies are born with serious birth defects. Moreover, birth defects are the nation's second greatest destroyer of life when prenatal loss is included. You can aid scientific research into these tragedies and support patient treatment by giving to the March of Dimes this January.

NursingHome Bids Being Accepted

KENNETT -- Bids are now being accepted for the construction of a 50-bed professional nursing home in Kennett.

The new nursing home, to be owned by Dr. C. R. Peck of Kennett and Dr. R. L. Palenske of Hornersville, will be located at the northwest corner of Teaco Road and the South By-Pass.

Dr. Peck said the structure will cost about $200,000 and is expected to be ready for occupancy by early next summer.

Architect for the new building is Pleas E. Hyatt of Kennett. Hyatt said the building will be of fireproof construction and will meet all requirements of the Missouri Department.

The new nursing home has met building and equipment requirements to be licensed for professional nursing care. It will be constructed of brick veneer with steel-framed roofing.

THE REBIRTH OF THE WEST GERMAN ECONOMY

Ludwig Erhardt became minister of economic affairs of the Bonn Government in Germany in the Spring of 1948. He has testified that he had a difficult time with the British and American economists in the military government. He says, "It was strictly laid down by the British and American control authorities that permission had to be obtained before any definite price changes could be made. The allies never seem to have thought it possible that someone would have the idea not to alter price controls, but simply to remove them." The allied economists were continually demanding more controls, while Erhardt wanted to abolish controls.

Erhardt put currency stability in the forefront of his objectives, but the allied economists preferred full employment to the stability of the currency, apparently not realizing that a stable currency is a powerful aid to full employment. All forces except Erhardt and William Roepke, his adviser, joined for a general attack on the market economy, forgetting that only through greater productivity and free competition on the basis of the stability of our money, could we secure our position in the world markets.

Erhardt wanted to lower certain taxes and discontinue others in order to step up consumption and lighten the burden of the economy. The allied economists "at first refused to listen to this tax reform." The head of the economic control administration in Germany expressed his distaste for what Erhardt was doing by describing the German tax system as the most antisocial in the world."

Erhardt has reported, "there is constant pressure from the USA to introduce controls. . ."

The American Advisory Commission of which Walter Heller, economic adviser to the late President Kennedy, was a member, advised unbalanced budgets, deficit spending, and economic controls. Erhardt resisted these and achieved great success. Balanced budgets and sound money were two of the principle reasons for the remarkable economic recovery that took place in West Germany.

No one knows how much effort free men can mobilize or what their potentiality is for the production of wealth. Someone has said the best way to discover who is capable of achievement is to permit all to try, each in accordance with his own inclinations and ideals. That is the only way to achieve the full potentials of men, and it cannot be done under any system of controlled economy. It can be tested only in a free economy, and experience shows that it is infinitely more productive than any other system. The enormous outpouring of wealth that took place in America after the Revolution is proof of this statement. The German experience is additional proof.

When the allied controls were removed and the White - Morgenthau policy of reducing Germany to the status of a cow pasture was abandoned, the West German people were permitted to attempt national regeneration in the political realm. The result was little short of a miracle.

L. V. Butler Seeking U. S. Supreme Court Review

CAPE GIRARDEAU - L. V. ("Jimmy") Butler, the Memphis, Tenn. grain speculator who was convicted in Cape Girardeau two years ago of illegal interstate shipment of grain and transport of a check is seeking to take his case before the United States Supreme Court.

Butler was sentenced by Federal Judge James H. Meredith to 10 years' imprisonment. He is still free on $50,000 bond pending the outcome of his appeals.

Judge Meredith said Butler had retained the law firm of Edward Bennett Williams, famed criminal lawyer of Washington, D.C., to prosecute at least one phase of his appeal.

And, so far as he knows, the judge added, the Williams firm still represents Butler.

Judge Meredith said that Butler has applied to the U.S. Supreme Court for a writ of certiorari, hoping to have the case reviewed by the high court.

On Butler's first appeal of his conviction and sentence, the Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals upheld the Federal District Court at Cape Girardeau and then overruled Butler in his motion for a reconsideration of that ruling, the federal judge reported.

Then came the application before the U.S. Supreme Court.

Judge Meredith said this is the last stop in the line of appeals for Butler and that unless the Supreme Court overturns the conviction or sends the case back for a new trial, Butler will have to begin serving his sentence.

He pointed out that the first obstacle for Butler is getting the case before the Supreme Court, which can choose not to review it.

Butler was convicted by a Federal Court jury here on Nov. 21, 1963 of the two counts -- the illegal shipment of 90,000 bushels of grain in interstate commerce and the interstate transport of a $6,000 check the government said had been stolen.

His trial lasted three weeks.

Butler was one of the central figures in the greatly involved Federal Grain Co. case from which a number of civil cases in Federal Court here stemmed.

Mississippi County Recreation Committee Meets

CHARLESTON -- An organization and planning meeting of the Mississippi County Recreation Committee was held Monday night at Milam's Cafe in East Prairie, with East Prairian Sam Jones as host.

Art Wallhausen Sr., served as temporary chairman until a permanent officer slate could be elected. Sam Jones was elected chairman, R. Q. Brown vice-chairman and Mike Morris, secretary-treasurer.

The 11-member group was appointed on Nov. 8 by the Mississippi County Court, to study recreational possibilities in the area, make recommendations, and to work with existing local, state and federal agencies. The committee is composed of L. D. Davis, Hunt Wellborn, Sam Jones, A. J. Drinkwater Jr., Marion Waggener, Art Wallhausen Sr., R. Q. Brown, Mike Morris, Urcil Anderson, T. J. Brown Jr., and Wendell Choate. All were present Monday night except Drinkwater, who had an earlier commitment in Dexter where he attended an area Boy Scout function.

The formation of a county-wide sportsman's club is one of the projects to be undertaken. The group then outlined five major development areas or goals:

1. Promote the creation of Grassy Lake in Big Oak State Park. Both the Conservation Commission and State Park Board are interested, and some preliminary work has been done.

2. Build and maintain at least three boat ramps and river access roads.

3. Build access roads to various blue holes and river chutes.

4. Promote Big Lake as recreation area.

5. Work toward the completion of the Ten Mile Pond project.

Present at the Monday night meeting were State Representative David Rolwing, and two members of the County Court, W. H. Winchester Jr., and Lloyd Hall.

Crop Insurance Available For Four Counties

CHARLESTON--Federal Crop Insurance on corn, cotton and soybeans will be available to farmers for the 1966 crop year in Mississippi, Dunklin, Pemiscot and Stoddard Counties. The Department of Agriculture has notified Senators Stuart Symington and Edward V. Long and Congressman Paul C. Jones of this information.

The all-risk insurance covers crop damage due to drought, freeze, insects, disease or other causes.

The Department of Agriculture also announced that wheat insurance will be added to the existing Federal Crop Insurance programs in New Madrid County.

Salesmen for the FCIC will visit the counties and try to contact every farmer during the crop season. Interested farmers not contacted may write to State FCIC Director, Frank Reed Grainger, 605 S. Massachusetts Ave., Sedalia.

The four counties in the Bootheel are included in seven countie throughout the state where the insurance will be offered for the 1966 crop year, raising to 57 the number of Missouri counties where Federal Crop Insurance is available to farmers. During 1965, according to the Department of Agriculture, $5 million in Missouri crop production expenses on some 175,000 acres was protected by Federal Crop Insurance.

hate thy neighbor!

Can this reversal of the ancient commandment really make sense to any reasonable man?

Yet look around you. Doesn't it seem as if this is the rule that too many people are living by these days? The result? Selfishness, bigotry, hatred for groups and individuals . . . war.

Is it really possible for you to "Love thy neighbor as thyself?"

Take this question with you to the place where you worship. There are no guarantees of "instant goodness"—for you or anyone else—when you step inside. But you will find people searching there, as you are, for truer values in an uncertain and troubled world.

This week, worship with your family in your church or synagogue. And put your Faith to work all week long.

PREVENTING BIRTH BLUES

An ounce of prevention can avert postpartum depression, a not uncommon condition following childbirth. This is what Dr. Lloyd Elam told fellow-physicians attending a recent meeting of the National Medical Association.

Dr. Elam, who heads the Department of Psychiatry at Meharry Medical College in Nashville, Tenn., believes that if a woman is encouraged by her physician to air her fears and problems during pregnancy, she may get just the support she needs to handle them effectively, and may thus avoid "birth blues."

According to Dr. Elam, "Any pregnant woman who suffers a loss, fears an increase of responsibility, or has a diminishing ability to take care of things is a likely candidate for postpartum depression." Sensitive understanding is the "miracle drug" such a woman needs during her pregnancy, and afterwards, as well, says the psychiatrist.

Dr. Elam pointed out that postpartum depression usually sets in about the fourth day after the baby is born, but that its forerunner, apathy, often begins on the second day. If such a sign appears, it should be treated promptly.

GEORGIA FORMULA FOR HAPPIER FAMILIES

When Georgia welfare officials reviewed their case load recently, they found that "a good many families who had been on welfare are now self-supporting; and that a good many families were happier, without threat of physical and genetic tragedies." What caused this change? Making family planning information and materials readily available to all who wanted them.

This finding was reported by Hannah D. Mitchell, the state's coordinator of nursing services, at a recent meeting of the American Public Health Association. The public health nurse explained that as medical personnel learned how to communicate more effectively with their patients, the latter became more interested in learning about family planning and applying it to their own lives.

DOCTORS' ORDERS OFTEN IGNORED

Who's fooling whom? A recent study shows that more than one third of all patients apparently fail to follow their physicians' orders -- and many doctors fail to realize it.

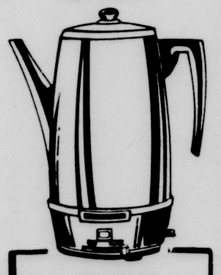

This is the sad news reported recently by Milton S. Davis, Ph.D., assistant professor of sociology in medicine, Cornell University Medical College, New York City. Professor Davis believes that persons between 46 and 65 years of age -- more often women than men -- were more likely to ignore orders than younger people.

When a physician's advice is frightening or has painful results; when it is inconvenient or time-consuming; or when it requires the patient to use his judgment, it is likely to be disregarded, forgotten, or denied.

What does a doctor do when he finds out about such reluctant patients? Generally, he tries to explain further the need for treatment and to persuade his patient to follow it. If that doesn't work, he is likely to withdraw from the case.

Dr. Davis' findings were reported in the November 1, 1965 issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association.

FIRST ASSEMBLY OF GOD CHURCH

REV. T. A. McDONOUGH

The history of the First Assembly of God, dates back to 1938; when the Reverend Gayle Jackson was directed by the Lord to conduct Evangelistic Meetings in Sikeston, with the view of establishing a Full Gospel Witness in the city. For a while, the work was met by much opposition and ridicule. But the God who sent him proved to be with him to open doors. First, there was a wood tabernacle, at South New Madrid and Trotter streets, then as the congregation felt the need of better facilities, the property at the corner of Matthews and Warner Streets were bought and a basement church built. Before Rev. Jackson resigned the church, for full time Evangelistic endeavors, the church purchased the property at South Kingshighway and Kathleen streets, for a permanent location.

The Rev. Jesse Smith, of Mobile, Alabama; was called to succeed the Rev. Jackson as pastor in 1949. During his pastorate, the congregation continued to grow and a two-story educational building was completed. This building was designed with the upper floor serving for Sunday school and church activities and the first floor serving as a Sanctuary; until a permanent Sanctuary could be built.

In 1953, the Rev. Loren Wooten of Springfield, Missouri; was elected pastor, succeeding Rev. Jesse Smith. Under his leadership the church built its present Sanctuary, bringing to completion its building program in 1957. The church plant is one of the finest in Sikeston. The beautiful blond brick building has approximately 23,000 square feet of floor space, the normal seating capacity, including the balcony is 715; with additional facilities to accommodate 1,000.

Rev. James E. Smith, of Kansas City, Missouri, followed Rev. Loren Wooten as pastor in 1959. Following the Rev. James E. Smith's resignation this past September, the church called the Rev. T. A. McDonough of Tulsa, Oklahoma, the present pastor.

The church not only has fine facilities, but a wonderful and very active church school and church program. The First Assembly Sunday schedule includes Sunday School at 9:30 AM, Morning Worship at 10:45 AM, Youth Services at 6:00 PM, Prayer Meeting at 6:45 PM, and Evangelistic Services at 7:15 PM. The mid-week service is prayer meeting, Bible study, and choir practice, each Wednesday evening at 7:30. The Assembly also sponsors four Missionary clubs for the entire family to participate in: The Royal Rangers, The Missionettes, The Women's Missionary Council, and The Men's Fellowship. There is also a Deaf service held once monthly.

The local Assembly is one of over 8,000 Assembly of God Churches in America, with a membership of close to 600,000 with an average Sunday morning attendance of over 1,000,000. Since its beginning in Hot Springs, Arkansas in April, 1914; the movement has grown rapidly not only in America, but in other lands as well, with more adherents outside the United States than inside. As the church was born in REVIVAL FIRES, so the church still maintains a strong evangelistic program worldwide. Old time camp meeting style SINGING, SHOUTING, PREACHING and PRAYING still characterises the services. It is not unusual for people of other faiths to visit the services of the local Assembly of God, especially on Sunday evenings. These are always extended a hearty welcome. For it is a FULL GOSPEL CHURCH located, "IN THE HEART OF THE CITY, WITH THE CITY AT HEART."

Smith Becomes Most Hated White Man On African Continent

By LYNN HEINZERLING

SALISBURY, Rhodesia AP--Ian Smith has made himself perhaps the most hated white man on the African continent.

He is a 46-year-old cattle rancher and prime minister of Rhodesia. With one 20-minute speech Nov. 11, he tore this colony free of Britain, put the nation's economy in jeopardy and consigned Rhodesia's four million black people to a future of white domination.

To many of Rhodesia's 225,000 whites, he is a George Washington. To Africans caught up in the fervor of black nationalism, he is a racist gone mad. Britain's Prime Minister Harold Wilson calls him "a frightened man."

Actually, he is none of these. Rhodesia's prime minister is an able and rugged individual who says he is doing what is best for the people of Rhodesia, black and white.

He is the product of a way of life which began developing in southern Africa when the first white man landed at Cape Town more than three centuries ago.

This white society's attitude toward the black man is a blend, in varying degrees of intensity, of paternalism, fear, pity and contempt.

In this society, the white man supplies brains, skills and money to build tidy cities, efficient railroads and large, flourishing farms. The black man supplied the cheap labor which made it possible.

In this part of the world few whites can be found with the honest conviction that a multiracial society of equals is possible.

Smith, the son of a cattle rancher and butcher, was shot down twice as a British fighter pilot in World War II.

Back in Rhodesia, he entered politics. He resigned from the United party in 1961 after a constitutional conference increased African strength in Parliament to 15 seats out of 65.

At the root of Rhodesia's conflict with Britain has been the African demand for more seats, more voice in government. Britain sees this as the African's right. To Rhodesia's whites this means eventual black domination.

Smith sought out Douglas Lilford, a wealthy tobacco grower and cattleman. The Rhodesian Front was born with Smith among the founders. It elected Winston Field prime minister. He was not firm enough.

Smith took over the job 18 months ago on a slogan of "no black nationalist government in my lifetime."

The Front won all 50 A-roll seats in an election earlier this year. These seats are elected principally by whites and Smith's mandate could not be questioned.

Lilford, who employes 600 Africans on his farms and has for a family motto "Preserve what you have," supported Smith for Field's job.

"This man," he told the Rhodesian Front, "has steel in him."

That is the impression Smith gives. He speaks forthrightly.

Yet he can say "We must tell the people the truth" and a few hours later clamp censorship on the Rhodesian press.

Smith has put together a Cabinet which obviously thinks as he does. The minister of internal affairs, William J. Harper, was, like Smith, an officer in the Royal Air Force.

Lord Graham, the Duke of Montrose and a wartime destroyer captain, gave up his ducal prerogatives in Scotland to farm in Rhodesia and is now minister of agriculture. He is a violent opponent of African nationalism and, with his aristocratic lineage, takes a paternalistic attitude toward African problems.

Clifford Dupont, deputy prime minister, has been named acting administrator to take the place of Gov. Sir Humphrey Gibbs. He formerly was a London lawyer and once boasted: "We can and will halt the wind of change."

He was an artillery officer during the war.

The minister of justice, Desmond Lardner - Burke, was born in South Africa and has shown no hesitation about acting against political opponents.

Lardner-Burke would dispute Prime Minister Wilson's assertion that this government has the appurtenances of a police state, but its powers are awesome.

The only two African leaders of any stature are in detention. The length of their detention without trial is at government discretion. R. S. Garfield Todd, a former prime minister who favored a greater voice for Africans in the government, is restricted to his farm.

Rhodesia always has been a police state for Africans. They are segregated, controlled, largely deprived of a voice in government.

Under emergency regulations now in force it could become the same for whites.

The minister of information can take over printing firms and direct their business "for so long as the minister considers it expedient."

Police may order any part of the public "out of or to any particular area or portion of an area in the interests of public safety."

Any gathering may be prohibited. If it appears to the justice minister that "the dentention of any person is expedient in the public interest," he may order it. He is empowered to establish camps for this purpose.

Government employes can be compelled to remain on the job. Any person passing along a "statement, rumor or report" likely to cause alarm or despondency risks three months in jail.

Ancient Rice

Rice is the cornerstone for good eating around the world. Nearly one-half the world's population depends upon rice as a basic food, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture. In many countries, the words for food and rice cultivation are synonymous.

The first written account of rice cultivation came from China around 2800 B.C. However, many scholars claim rice was originally grown in India, and later brought to China.

American cultivation began in the late fifteenth century. Although attempts to establish it in northern states proved unsuccessful, rice flourished in the Southeastern U.S. until the Civil War disrupted farming in this section. Now, the major producing states include Texas, Arkansas and California.

Cultivation of this season's rice crop has been particularly successful in our growing regions, as production is estimated to be about 24 per cent above average. With these plentiful supplies you can look for economical rice prices throughout the fall and early winter months.

Plan to feature rice in your menu soon. It is not only versatile, tasty and plentiful, but extremely nutritious as well. Here are a few handy recipes from the USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service to help you plan around rice.

BAKED EGGS-RICE AND VEGETABLES IN MUSHROOM SAUCE

Mix together one 10 1/2 oz. can condensed cream of mushroom soup, 1 tblsp. prepared mustard, 1 tsp. salt and 2 cups water. Gently mix in 1 1/2 c. cooked and seasoned mixed vegetables and 4 hard-cooked eggs which have been sliced. Layer along with 3 c. rice in a greased 2-qt. baking dish. Bake in a pre-heated 350 degree F. oven for 1 hour or until most of the liquid is absorbed. If desired, top with buttered crumbs or grated Cheddar cheese.

BEEF-VEGETABLE SOUP
(Rice Style)

1 tblsp. cooked fat
1 lb. lean stew beef, cut in 1" to 1 1/2" cubes
1/2 tsp. thyme
1 bay leaf
1 tsp. monosodium glutamate
1 c. coarsely chopped onions
1/2 c. chopped celery leaves
10 c. water
1 c. sliced carrots
1 c. coarsely chopped cauliflower or cabbage
3/4 c. uncooked white rice
1 c. baby lima beans
1 tblsp. salt
1/4 tsp. black pepper

A pound of lean stew beef is browned. Then flavorful thyme, bay leaf, celery leaves, onion and the flavor booster, monosodium glutamate are added. When the beef is almost tender add the vegetables to cook until tender. You can substitute cabbage for the cauliflower or green beans and peas for the lima beans.

Slowly add the water. Cover and simmer over a low heat about 1 1/2 hours or until the meat is tender.

PREDICT "WATERighting" WILL SET NEW STANDARDS IN HOUSING

Americans are the best plumbed people in the world, as everyone knows. And things are going to get even better, the Plumbing - Heating-Cooling Information Bureau reports. A concept called WATERighting is expected to revolutionize housing standards within a decade.

As the name implies, WATERighting simply means having enough water-using equipment in the home to provide the ultimate in comfort, health, convenience, safety and beauty. The concept, which is copyrighted, has been tested in 12 key cities throughout the country with model WATERight Homes that attracted an unusual amount of attention, according to the Bureau.

Besides several bathrooms, the kitchen sink and a hydronic (hot water) heating system, the average WATERight Home contains at least the following: Dishwasher, food waste disposer and instant hot-water in the kitchen; bedroom lavatories;; entertain sinks in the family room or on the patio; a full laundry; hot and cold water in the garege; water outlets on all sides of the house and outdoor drinking fountain. Some WATERight Homes have courtyard water falls, snow-melting installations under the sidewalk and driveway, lawn sprinkling systems and swimming pools.

The WATERight Home has every convenience made possible by piped water, in other words. Its future is seen as rosy for two main reasons -- America's increasingly affluent society and the fact that there's nothing "gimmicky" about the concept. Rather, it offers genuine and lasting conveniences and benefits to the homeowner and his family.

Cavities Increase With Kissing

By DOUG BAILEY

MIAMI, Fla. AP -- Scientists have discovered that tooth decay is a highly contagious disease, not a defect you inherit from your parents, says a University of Miami researcher.

That means if you have a good, sound set of choppers but marry somebody with a mouth full of cavities, you are imperiling your ivory smile.

"This is not going to stop kissing," said the researcher, Dr. Doran D. Zinner, in a bit of understatement.

"But it does mean we have made a good step forward in stopping tooth decay," he said.

"For many years we thought of tooth decay as hereditary," Zinner said in an interview.

"But now we know that if an individual does not have a certain type of bacteria in his mouth, he will not get caries."

You can eat all the candy, cake and soda pop you want if you don't have these bacteria, Zinner said, and your teeth won't decay.

Of course, if you do have the bacteria, every time you eat something with sugar in it, you are giving the bacteria food, allowing them to destroy your teeth.

The bacteria area transmitted by direct contract, said Zinner, a dentist - microbiologist who has been studying tooth decay with four colleagues for the past five years under a Public Health Service grant.

About 98 per cent of the population of the world has some form of tooth decay, Zinner said, "but the biggest majority have the slow acting type."

Still, you might catch a faster-moving brand from your girl-friend, wife or even a kissin' cousin, he said.

The best protection against tooth decay discovered so far is fluorides, Zinner said.

Not only do fluorides kill the bacteria but they also become part of the crystal surface of the teeth and act as a wall against new bacteria, he said.

Coroner's Job Takes New Shape

By BOB DUBILL

PRINCETON, N. J. AP -- A shapely blonde coed starts a three - year term as coroner today with visions of running for Congress in the future.

"This is an ideal political office for a college girl," beamed blue-eyed Janet M. Bond prior to being sworn in as Mercer County coroner. "Already I've met a lot of people I wouldn't have otherwise."

She's received a bundle of mail from around the country, including congratulatory letters from Republican National Chairman Ray Bliss and U. S. Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania.

Janet became something of a celebrity three weeks ago by polling 56 votes for a landslide victory over 54 other write-in candidates.

She clinched the election with a mimeographed letter campaign from Mount Holyoke College in Massachusetts urging the people back home in Princeton to add interest to their election day by casting a write-in ballot for her.

One of her major preoccupations since the election has been trying to figure out just what the coroner's job entails.

For some time Mercer County's governing officials have tried to persuade the legislature to erase the coroner's office from the books on grounds that it is outdated and the county medical examiner has taken over the only essential duties. But the title remains -- and enough voters are aware of the position to keep it alive.

Although the position pays no salary, has no real duties and no patronage, Janet, a 21-year-old political science major, doesn't discount its political value.

"I think deep down every political science student would like to be in Congress some day," she said. "One way to get there is by winning elections."

Viet Nam War Map Called Collector's Item

We now have available for you a splendid, full color map of South Viet Nam that is of utmost importance now and that may well be a collector's item in years to come. Nothing else like it is available.

It's based on exclusive reports from AP war correspondents. Suitable for home, classroom, office or library, it's a must for everyone with a relative in service and for teachers, students, parents and armchair strategists.

It shows U.S. bases and operations areas, Viet Cong country and infiltration routes, the places where the action is and much, much more. There are seven maps in all, counting those on the back.

You should order now, while the supply lasts. Send $1 for each map desired.

Dunklin County To Hold Bond Election

By MAX STURM

KENNETT, Mo. -- Voters in Dunklin County will go to the polls on Tuesday, December 14, to vote on a proposal for a $975,000 general obligation bond issue for use in expanding and improving the Dunklin County Memorial Hospital. If approved by a two-thirds majority this sum will be matched by an equal amount of federal funds to provide almost $2 million for the program. The federal money is available under provisions of the Hill-Burton Act.

This will be the third time for the proposition to be presented to Dunklin County voters. In two other elections two years ago it failed to receive the required two-thirds majority. On this third try the hospital's board of trustees declined to initiate the election. It was scheduled, however, after a number of leading citizens circulated a petition which was signed by enough voters to have the proposal brought up again.

It appeared that opposition in the past two elections was centered principally in the north end of Dunklin County where residents stated that they didn't use the hospital at Kennett, going instead to Poplar Bluff. Proponents are of the opinion that much of this opposition has been overcome during recent months, and are optimistic on the approval of the proposal in coming third election.

One contributing factor in overcoming the opposition is the federal medicare program which will become effective next July. Many Dunklin County citizens now realize that the hospital must be greatly expanded and improved to serve the additional patients expected to use the facilities under the new program.

Another factor is the success of a similar proposal in a recent election in adjoining Pemiscot County. The voters in that county approved a $400,000 bond issue for use in adding a wing to the Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital at Hayti. This sum also will be matched with around $400,000 from the federal government. The vote was overwhelming in favor of the issue, receiving a seven to one majority. The new wing will provide space for at least 44 additional beds and improved related medical services.

Both of the hospitals at Kennett and Hayti were constructed shortly after World War II with matching Hill - Burton funds.

Also in Kennett bids were being accepted for the construction of a 50-bed professional nursing home to be owned by Dr. C. R. Peck of Kennett and Dr. R. L. Palenske of Hornersville. The estimated cost is $200,000 and plans call for the structure to be completed and ready for occupancy by early next summer.

In Stoddard County a campaign to raise a $480,000 fund by popular subscription for a hospital to be located at Dexter has been successfully completed with the amount going over $500,000. This sum will also be matched by a federal Hill -- Burton grant to provide around $1 million for the construction of the 50-bed facility to be located on a 12-acre site northwest of Dexter. It will be operated by a non-profit community corporation instead of as a part of the county government as the hospitals in Pemiscot and Dunklin are operated. The fund drive is continuing, however, so that a larger facility can be constructed than that originally planned.

Federal Court Opens Hearing To Get More Negroes On Juries

By REX THOMAS

MONTGOMERY, Ala. AP -- A three-judge federal court opens a hearing today on a suit aimed at getting more Negroes listed on the jury rolls in Lowndes County, scene of two civil rights slayings this year.

The Negroes who filed the suit, the Justice Department, and the Episcopal Society For Cultural and Racial Unity contend that only a fractional number of Negroes have been used on juries in the county, although 80 per cent of Lowndes County's population is Negro.

The government claims that it has been the practice of Lowndes County for a half-century to keep Negroes off juries because of their race.

The suit was filed prior to President Johnson's announcement that he will ask Congress for passage of new civil rights legislation to "prevent injustice to Negroes at the hands of all-white juries." It was brought by several Lowndes County Negroes, with the aid of the American Civil Liberties Union, and amended to allow the Justice Department and the Episcopal group to intervene.

Only Lowndes County is involved but other suits have been filed involving other Alabama counties.

The suit also challenges the Alabama law prohibiting women from serving on State Court juries. The Justice Department, however, did not enter into that issue. The petition filed by Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach seeks only to forbid discrimination on the basis of "race or color."

The suit was filed six days after an Episcopal seminary student, Jonathan Daniels of Keene, N. H., was killed by a shotgun blast in Hayneville, the Lowndes County seat.

The 26-year-old Daniels was the second civil rights worker killed in Lowndes County this year. In March, Mrs. Viola Gregg Liuzzo, a white Detroit housewife, was shot to death as she drove along Highway 80 near Lowndesboro.

An all-white Circuit Court jury acquitted Thomas L. Coleman, a Hayneville highway engineer and part-time special deptuy sheriff, of a manslaughter charge stemming from the death of Daniels. There were no Negroes on the panel from which the jury was chosen for that trial in Hayneville, although they have been on juries in times past.

A month later, Ku Klux Klansman Collie Leroy Wilkins Jr., a Fairfield, Ala., mechanic, went on trial in the same courtroom for the second time in the slaying of Mrs. Liuzzo. He also was acquitted by an all-white jury.

Another jury had earlier failed to reach a verdict in the Wilkins case. Wilkins was one of three klansmen charged with murder in the slaying. The other two, who have not been tried, are William O. Eaton and Eugene Thomas.

There were seven Negroes on the panel of 70 men from which the second trial jury was chosen, though none actually sat on the case.

GOD BE THANKED

GOD BE THANKED for any yield
That seeking hearts may find
From the harvesting of every field
That lies before mankind.
Not always is that garnering
Gold grain from seeded soil,
For there are many things that bring
Reward for earnest toil.
So God be thanked for work to do
To earn man's daily bread,
For countless tasks the long year through
That families may be fed.
This is the day for special prayer,
This is the time for praise
For God's continual gracious care,
His mercies through our days.

For countless blessings such as these
We thank Thee, God, upon our knees.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

THE WAY TO "PEACE FOR FAMILIES AND FOR NATIONS"

By Augustus James Cox, Member of the San Francisco Presbytery of the United Presbyterian Church

This will be enriching to you if you take the time to read it. So, I suggest that you read this at home and let your loved ones read it and apply the above Title to these few replies of numerous-such-replies that I have had to what one Editor called, "A Personalized Lord's Prayer".

A Chaplain of a large Mid-Western Technical College, who holds a Ph. D. Degree, wrote this to me on March 30, 1965, "What a wonderful inspiration your interpretation of The Lord's Prayer is! My Chaplaincy has been enriched by reading this prayer and by using it in my daily meditations and prayer. With the use of the first person singular the true Light of Christ touches one's mind more fully. God bless you for this inspiration which you are now sharing with not only the writer, but with his many students.

Then on April 16, 1965, I received this letter from a Roman Catholic Archbishop of a large Western City, which, with these other responses, I include for the help of the millions of Catholics and the hundreds of millions of other people around the World.

Thank you for sending me a copy of the very complimentary letter you received from the Chaplain (quoted above). His enthusiasm has kindled my desire to know your interpretation of Our Lord's Prayer.

With best wishes for the Graces and Blessings of the Easter Season.

Of Course, this "Personalized Lord's Prayer" is for one's own individual and private Devotions and does not change the use of "Our Lord's Prayer" in Family and in Public Worship, but will make it more meaningful and will inspire and enrich your life as is set forth above and as I have experienced. This is the Prayer requested and referred to above and it is needed, sorely needed in this grave time of Riots, Strifes, Wars, Crimes, Poverty, Injustice, in Race Relations, Afflictions like Blindness, Drug Addictions, etc., to bring about "the Healing of the Nations" and "the Peace of the World". On the basis of *and  found below anyone can pray thus,

*My Father, Who art in Heaven or Who art within me, Sacred by Thy Name, Thy Kingdom come, Thy Will be done on earth as it is done in me and may it be done more perfectly in me; Give me this day my daily bread, Spiritual, as well as, physical; And forgive me my sins, as I desire to forgive those who have sinned against me; And lead me not into temptation, but deliver me from evil, For Thine is the Kingdom and the Power and the Glory, World without end.

These references are also for everyone's help, as will be the daily use of this "personalized Lord's Prayer", which will bring to your conscious mind soon the Infinitely Loving Guidance of Christ's indwelling Spirit.

*If you think this is a selfish way to pray, recall how Jesus, Who to hundreds of millions of people is the Supreme Example, addresses God many times as, "My Father" and "the Father" also means, "My Father". See especially John 5:43 through John 17 and elsewhere in the Fourth Gospel. See also, Psalm 23:1a: "The Lord is my Shepherd".

See the King James Version on Luke 17:21 wherein Jesus says, "The Kingdom of God is within you" and believe that "the Kingdom of God or Heaven" is the product of the Spirit of Christ dwelling in each person. See also, Ezekiel 36:27 and John 15:7 in which Jesus again says, "Since you are in Me and I", that is, My Spirit "is in you, ask whatsoever you will and it shall be given to you". Other passages that are helpful are: Acts 17:28; Romans 8:11; Colossians 1:27; Galatians 4:6 and 1st John 4:16b. The Apostle Paul teaches that "One's body (or mind) is the Temple of the Living God". See: 1st Corinthians 3:16; 6:19 and 2nd Cor. 6:16. And whether you are persecuted or blessed, one can take as his or her own these words of Paul, Gal. 2:20 (KJV) as I paraphraze them, "I am crucified (or blessed) with Christ, even so I live for Christ lives in me". See: Eph. 3:16 and Philippians 4:13. First Peter 4:12-14 will be a wonderful help to you.

A large California College President, who is Presbyterian, said, "Your version of The Lord's Prayer is the absolute Truth. It's the Gospel and it is tremendous!" And he mailed it to his Faculty and Students, Physicians, Dentists and others have sent it to Statesmen in Vietnam and other such areas. But, the task is barely begun: Getting this whole Message published and translated and sent at one's own expense, for the sake of Humanity, to People at Home and Abroad.

Today in U.S. History

Today is Friday, Nov. 26, the 330th day of 1965. There are 35 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1789, the first official Thanksgiving Day under the New Republic was celebrated, following its proclamation by President George Washington.

On this date

In 1864, American theatrical history was made when Edwin Booth opened in the New York winter garden in "Hamlet," beginning the longest Shakespearean run to that time, 100 performances.

In 1925, Germany ratified the Locarno Treaty, which guaranteed the French frontier.

In 1942, allied troops were battling Japanese forces in the Buna sector of New Guinea.

In 1943, President Franklin D. Roosevelt, British Prime Minister Winston Churchill and China's Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek ended their conference in Cairo.

In 1950, the first of 200,000 Chinese troops crossed the Yalu River in support of the nearly defeated North Korean armies, prolonging the war of invasion for more than three years.

Ten years ago-A police station in Rosslea, northern Ireland, was bombed by raiders, believed to be members of the outlawed Irish Republican Army.

Five years ago-Ten workers were killed when a freight train rammed a work locomotive at Hanover, Germany.

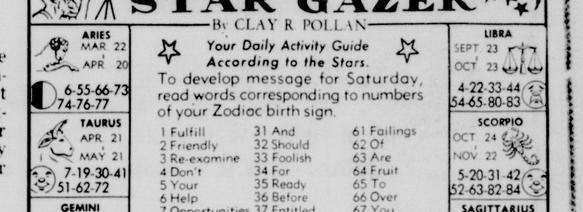

One year ago-Belgian troopers rescued 211 white hostages held in the Congo town of Paulis; 22 whites were found murdered.

Today's birthdays:

Playwright-actor Emlyn Willians is 60. Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan, former aide to President Harry Truman, is 72.

"Bury the Hatchet"

The expression "bury the hatchet" started with the Indians of North America. It was the custom, before smoking the peace pipe, to cover up all signs of hostility by burying tomahawks or hatchets.

Senior High School To Be Built In Charleston

CHARLESTON'S NEW $1.3 MILLION HIGH SCHOOL that is to be constructed in 1966 and 1967.

FLOOR -PLAN DRAWING of the $1.3 million school to be constructed at Charleston.

CHARLESTON -- Construction of $1.3 million elliptical high school is to begin here in February 1966, according to H. H. Sutherland, president of the Charleston Board of Education.

"The building is designed for learning rather than teaching," contends Sutherland.

The 85,000 square foot high school, designed for flexibility and future expansion by St. Louis Architects Pearce and Pearce, Inc., will accomodate an anticipated maximum enrollment of 1,000 students.

"The philosophy of our school," according to Dr. W. R. Pierce, Jr., superintendent of Charleston schools, "will be reflected in the physical facilities."

"It proposes the development of the child intellectually, socially, emotionally and physically, and requires a more comprehension program than would be required if the educational philsophy proposed a continuation of the traditional concept of elementary education," Pierce said.

The new school will have a controlled environment, according to Chief Designer David Pearce.

He said:

"The plant will be an enormous and complex educational facility in which all components will be used as tools of learning."

Flexibility factors in the new school include single story construction with open-end or non-existent corridors, a compact plan on an adequate site, easily-removed non-load-bearing dry wall interior partitions.

The school will contain a minimum of doors and classrooms areas will be defined by movable furniture barriers.

Sound will be controlled by carpeting and slotted acoustical mineral tile suspended ceilings.

Structure of the domes over the circular gymnasium and future auditorium will be wood lamellas with two inch wood decking.

Plastic dome skylights will be used elsewhere in the building.

Lighting will be flourescent throughout.

Completion is anticipated in 1967.

Three Killed In Accidents Over Holiday Period

Three persons were killed in traffic accidents over the Thanksgiving holiday in Southeast Missouri.

A 21-year-old mother and her two-month old daughter, both of St. Louis, lost their lives Wednesday night at 11 p.m. A Jackson pedestrian lost his life on Interstate 55, early Thursday morning.

Mrs. Peggy Jean Long, and her daughter, Belinda, were in a 1955 Pontiac, driven by her husband, Bobby Joe Long, 25, St. Louis, when the car left highway 61 a few hundred yards north of Morley and turned over five times, according to the highway patrol.

They were thrown from the car.

The husband received leg and head injuries, and a son, Ricky, 5, received bruises.

The contents of the car were thrown over a wide area in the triangle area at the intersection of highway 61 and 77.

The family was enroute to visit relatives when the accident occurred. The two injured members were tkaen to the Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

Peggy Long was born in Oran, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin A. Warren of Bell City. She was married to Bobby Joe Long on Jan. 16, 1960.

Belinda Jean Long was born Sept. 23, 1965.

Other survivors of the two are, Mrs. Long's mother; two sons, Ricky Joe and Quintin Lee Long; three brothers, Harold Warren, Diehlstadt, Billy Ray Warren, Chicago, Ill., and Terry Ray Warren, Bell City; two sisters, Joyce Ann Warren and Sharon Warren, both of Bell City.

Services will be held Sunday at 2 p.m. in the Pentecostal Church, Oran, with burial in Friends Cemetery in Oran.

An unusual accident Thursday at 2 a.m. on Interstate 55, three miles south of Cape Girardeau, took the life of James Brown, 31, Jackson.

A 1965 Mercury traveling south, driven by Fred Keyerleber, 28, Cleveland, Ohio, hit a pedestrian standing in the road waving his arms. The Mercury was unable to avoid striking the man.

Edna Cook, Scott City, trailing the first car, then ran over Brown.

In an accident at 7 p.m. Thursday on highway 61 near Scott City, a 1947 Dodge driven by Clarence Rogers, 23, Cape Girardeau, came around a curve too fast and struck a metal railing.

The passenger in the car, Lester McNeely, 18, Cape Girardeau, received cuts on his face and arm, and was taken to the St. Francis Hospital in Cape Girardeau.

In an accident on Route K near Scott City at 12:10 a.m., yesterday a 1963 Buick, driven by Charles Menz, 19, Scott City, struck a utility pole when he came around a curve at high speed.

Injured was Kenneth Shackles, 17, Chaffee, who received bruises. He was taken to St. Francis Hospital in Cape Girardeau.

A 1956 Oldsmobile, driven by Melvin Reeves, 53, Sikeston, was involved in a two car accident Thursday at 11 p.m. on highway Y one mile south of Salcedo.

A 1962 Plymouth was parked on the roadway without lights and the Oldsmobile struck the parked car, injuring Mrs. Bertha Reeves, 48, Sikeston, who received cuts on her head and a back injury.

She was taken to the Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

An accident at 3:20 a.m. Thursday at the Mississippi River bridge, Cairo, Ill., caused injuries to Leslie Huddleston, 23, and Shirley Huddleson, 18, both of Nashville, Tenn.

They were taken to the Cairo hospital where they were treated for cuts and bruises.

The accident happened at the approach as they started to cross the bridge when another car forced them to strike the bridge railing.

Local Boy Report About Viet Nam

EDITOR'S NOTE - - Gene Nicholson, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Nicholson, 315 East Gladys, is working in the press relations office in Saigon. He sent the following article telling how food was prepared for the soldiers serving in the war in Viet Nam.

By GENE NICHOLSON

SAIGON -- Not many of the 161,000 American servicemen now serving in Vietnam will get through Thanksgiving Day without the traditional turkey dinner.

The Navy's Headquarters Support Activity, responsible for providing all food for U. S. troops here, started planning the dinner last June. The average time - lapse between ordering commodities from the U. S. and their arrival here by boat, is about three months.

To add to the problem, the Supply people had to look into the future to calculate the number of U. S. troops that would be in Vietnam by the end of November. (In June there were approximately 67,000). Their crystal ball gazing proved accurate enough that each G. I. here will be served his official ration of turkey.

The order for 12,000 of America's finest turkeys--12 to 14 pounders--went out to Oakland Naval Supply Center in July, and the birds started their 8,000 mile journey by boat. The last leg of that trip got underway early this week, when the shipment began leaving refrigerator units at Saigon, Cam Ranh Bay, Qui Nhon and Da Nang.

Most of the turkey, along with shrimp for cocktails will be delivered to units in the field by truck. Some of the birds will go out on the wing though-- to be air dropped to units who are isolated or in inaccessable areas.

Not to be caught with their drumsticks down, though, the Navy has stockpiled an emergency supply of frozen boneless rolled turkey -- just in case.

The official military Thanksgiving menu reads: shrimp cocktail, roast turkey, bread dressing, giblet gravy, cranberry-orange relish, candied sweet potatoes, mashed potatoes, buttered green beans, relish tray, Parker House rolls, butter, fruitcake, pumpkin pie, mincemeat pie, fresh fruit, candy and assorted nuts.

But with this special past, Navy Supply people are not at rest. They are already deeply involved in repeat performances for the coming Christmas and New Year dinners. Orders for these meals went out in September and the birds are on the wing - er - boat again.

Arrest Three

Police made three arrests yesterday.

Willie Green, 303 Alabama, was charged with assault.

James L. Cox, 223 Edmondson, was charged with writing a no account check.

Martha Barham, 606 Lake, had three charges placed against her, and given summons. The charges were, driving while intoxicated, no city license and no operator's license.

Telephone Company Contributes 100 Per Cent To United Fund

Southwestern Bell and its employees, who are affiliated with the Communication Workers of America, Local 6313, held a celebration Wednesday at the Telephone Company in closing their 1965 United Fund Drive with 100 per cent participation.

The total contribution was $2,430.20. This represented an average contribution of $14.93 per employee. The telephone company has a payroll deduction plan.

John Donoho, Manager, said this year's drive was the most successful of any previous years.

Last year the average contribution was $10.86 per employee.

Capacity Crowd Attend Holiday Services

A capacity crowd was present at the annual union Thanksgiving Service Wednesday at the First Christian Church, sponsored by the Sikeston Ministerial Alliance.

Rev. William L. Blackard, Wesley Methodist Church, delivered the sermon.

The Ministerial Alliance is made up of 16 churches of Sikeston, with proceeds of the service going to the needy of the community.

Ministers taking part in the Wednesday night service were, Rev. T. A. McDonough, First Assembly of God Church; Rev. Myron Neal, First Christian Church; and Rev. C. D. Butler, Murray Lane Baptist Church.

The Thanksgiving message by the Rev. Blackard was as follows:

"What is the meaning of Thanksgiving in the majority of homes in this nation in which we live?

"For many I am rather sure that it is not much more than an extra day off from work when because of tradition the family watches or attends a football game and stuffs themselves with rich foods.

"But is this day something more than a tradition of our country? Is Thanksgiving more than a day when we recall the hardships of our early settlers and how they held a big feast in celebration of having safely and successfully lived through some hard days? Let us put our minds to the task of seeing something of greater importance and of greater historical endurance than just our own national interest.

"First I would call our attention to hardships known to a people of an earlier time. The people who we once in a while link to our heritage as Christians, the Children of Israel.

During the period of their wanderings while driving to escape from Egypt they found themselves without food and were asking the Lord to care for them. They were an unhappy lot at this point and the Lord provided them with their daily needs.

"This brings to my mind a similarity between them and us today. The story in Exodus Ch. 16 tells of how they were provided with the bread from heaven along with instructions about its gathering. And what happened to them is much like our own selfish habits of today, some heard and took seriously the instructions that they should gather only what they would need for that day. These went out each day and gathered the amount of food that they would need, others decided that they were so very hungry that they would not take only the small amount designated to them but that they were really going to have a feast. A third group or type decided that while there was plenty available they would be sure of getting their share for the days to come.

"The writer relates an interesting thing to us about this situation. Much to their surprise as it would be to us all three groups of people had an ample amount of food just that day, the next day the crew of horaders found that they too were going to have to go in search of food. That which they had laid up was no longer of any value.

It seems to me that this is much like our problem with Thanksgiving, we celebrate Thanksgiving Day once a year and for some strange reason expect this to be sufficient for the whole year.

"I wonder if God didn't really say to these people as I am sure he speaks to us a message which really means that on each day we need to spend some time in worship. Give thanks daily that daily your bread has been provided for you. Surely this must have been what God had in mind, he had seen in the Israelites this tendency to forget the giver when there was no need for another gift. He has seen in you and I an example which is much the same and possibly a whole lot worse.

"How many of our fellow men who call themselves Christian have not seen the inside of their Church or sincerely given thanks to any one for a time which has grown much too long? We at this Thanksgiving time are not too unlike those who went before us, for we are also inclined to grab up all that is in sight and even when we have good stock piles; maybe we will utter a weak thanks. Not an earnest statement of God we give thanks. No this would imply that we may be willing to give up something we treasure.

"A second approach to a true thanksgiving might be taken from Paul was saying in 1st Corinthians. Now we see through a glass darkly, but then face to face. I wonder who there is among us who is really ready to stand and see face to face.

"I believe that this may well be illustrated by the manner in which we seek out all of the By-Pass signs on the highways as we travel. Now it is for sure that is why they were built.

"By using these we all know that we are able to skirt the big city traffic, we can get to the opposite side of town in much less time and with less effort. This may be a blessing but it may also be something which we should examine a little more closely.

"As long as this line of thought implies that we have reference to an automobile let us then consider the life of an automobile. It will give satisfactory service for, let us say 100,000 miles. The tires will last also for a certain number of miles. The gasoline consumption is figured on a basis of miles traveled. From these few factors let us take a look again at the by-pass route and see if it is really worth while to look at the city darkly as we pass by from a distance.

"What is a real thanksgiving in the eyes of the Lord? How does a Christian respond to his God?

"In my humble opinion a Christian will learn to be content in whatever situation he finds himself to be, as long as his Savior is with him. This then says to me that if we are offered an opportunity to select from a field enough food for today that this is what we will do.

"We will then take time to give thanks to God for his bountiful goodness. A real Christian then would not try to take advantage of the situation by grabbing something which God has told him is not his. We will give with all the millions of people but on the next day we will be found still thankful. This then would be the beginning of the true Christian meaning of Thanksgiving.

"In the second feeble attempt we need to realize that a Christian is called on to look the situation squarely in the face. There will come a day. This may be a trite statement but the Lord has forewarned us of a day of judgment. A day when we will see clearly, when we will be face to face. Let us turn over a new leaf and start with this Thanksgiving season to do what the Lord wants us to do. Face the issues of life fairly and squarely.

Three Injured In City Accident

Three persons were injured in an accident Wednesday, at 7:55 p.m., at at the intersection of North Ranney Street and highway 61.

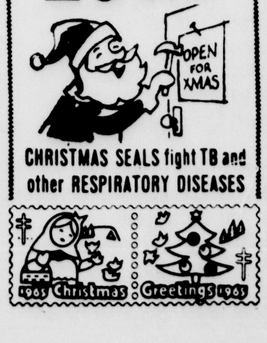

Mrs. Jessie H. Green, 53, route one, was driving a 1964 Oldsmobile when she pulled into the path of Walter Prindle, 17, of Oran as she was making a left turn.

Injured in the Green car was the driver. Those injured in the Prindle car were Linda Isaacs, 17, route four, and Norman Alsum, 17, of Sikeston.

Emergencies

The Missouri Delta Community Hospital received seven emergency patients Wednesday and Thursday.

Barbara Layne, Sikeston, fell out of car; Barbara McCoy, Sikeston, fell at home; Jessie Green, Sikeston, car accident; Quintin Long, St. Louis, car accident; Ernest Butler, Sikeston, car accident; James Hailey, Sikeston, cut head on bottle; Mark Stacy, Carbondale, Ill.; hit head on steel pipe.

TRADE SCHOOL CLASSIC

Neither the Army nor the Navy football teams have had very good seasons this year, but the Army-Navy game on Saturday, Nov. 27, will make the record of one team and break the record of the other. Even in a bad year the inter-service rivalry is so keen that the game stands to be the most talked about college engagement of the 1965 season. It has an added filip this year, for it represents the 75th anniversary of the first Army-Navy game.

When the "trade schools," as they are sometimes ungenerously designated, first took each other on at football, no one could have foreseen the attention that now centers on their annual game. In 1890 only a small part of the population was or had been in the armed forces. The game was played at West Point with so little accompanying ceremony that neither the Secretary of the Army or the Secretary of the Navy made the trip from Washington. Sketches showed the players wearing shirts buttoned to the neck and cone-shaped woolen caps.

If it's any augury, Navy won that first game 24 to 0, and the New York Herald was moved to observe that the West Pointers didn't know "how to play the game very well." The series, historically, is pretty even, with 31 wins for Army to 29 for Navy. There have been five ties, the most recent being the 7-to-7 standoff in 1956. Navy has dominated recently, with five straight wins before being downed, 11-to-8, in Army's stunning 1964 upset.

Much of the revenue from the service game, which in recent years has been a Philadelphia fixture, goes to the academies' private athletic association funds. The City of Brotherly Love has the East's largest stadium and throws in program and parking concessions boosting the gross by an estimated $60,000. Add TV, and each Academy gets about $750,000. Army, Navy, and Air Force academies support their elaborate intercollegiate athletic programs from football revenue that goes into the private funds. For example, Army's athletic budget, none of it financed by government, is usually $1 million. The take in 1963 was $1.6 million, but the cost of enlarging Michie Stadium from athletic association funds came to $1 1/4 million.

A nation grateful for the blessings of peace and prosperity celebrated Thanksgiving Day yesterday with prayers, parades, family reunions and turkey dinners.

It was a nation that could hardly forget the somber mood of Thanksgiving, 2 years ago, which came within a week of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

President Johnson said in a message to the armed forces, issued in Johnson City, Tex.: "Today all Americans thank the blessings of the Lord for the bounty of their land. In homes at peace, in houses of worship that are untouched by rancor or anger, families are gathered in gratitude for all that God has given them and for the blessings that he has rained upon our nation."

He noted that many servicemen would not be with their families. "But all of us here at home remember you with gratitude," he said.

Churches held special services and in some communities Protestants and Catholics joined in a common observance of Thanksgiving, a practice begun last year in the new spirit of church unity.

The day was celebrated in Plymouth, Mass., which most Americans think of as the site of the first Thanksgiving, and in Virginia, which claims that Berkeley Hundred, near Jamestown, Va., held the original Thanksgiving.

Parades signaled today the approach of the next big holiday, Christmas. They were being held in New York City, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Albuquerque, N. M.; Charlotte, N. C., and Detroit, among other cities.

Cities, churches, charity groups and individuals provided turkey dinners for the poor and homeless in many areas.

If a community could be judged for the spontaneous thoughtful, friendly and kindly acts of neighbors and friends Sikeston certainly has earned its place in the sun.

Everybody agrees that Paul C. Meyer deserves the radio set Sikeston people gave him. He has more than earned it but it is wonderful to see anyone toasted at a banquet and given a remembrance for any job well done. It is easy to ignore or take for granted good deeds. As long as Meyer is a citizen there always will be a Santa Claus.

He has gladdened the hearts of hundreds of Sikeston youngsters and their parents by appearances in their homes on Christmas Eve. It has been a thoughtful, kindly, volunteer act motivated by a deserve to serve. His only reward has been to look into happy faces at the holiday season.

We hope that Meyers is spared for many years to carry on this useful work of spreading Christmas cheer.

The least we can do is to wish him a Merry Christmas and many more of them. We are grateful for his efforts and he now has tangible evidence that this feeling is shared by the entire community.

IN THERE PITCHING

The ordinary human mind cannot possibly envision 18.5 billion miles. Nor can it digest such a figure as 310 million passengers.

But these statistics are part of the railroads' record for a single year, 1963. In that brief span they carried those 310 million passengers 18.5 billion passenger - miles. And they did that huge job with only 13 passenger fatalities -- their best record in four years. By way of comparison, 28,900 people died in automobile accidents.

The 13 fatalities included only three resulting from major accidents. The other 10 stemmed from passenger carelessness such as trying to board or leave a moving train.

This is a remarkable record. And it was not just the result of chance or good luck. "Safety first" is always at the top of the list of railroad operating rules. Every workable step is taken to eliminate the cause of accidents -- and the spectacular results prove the efficacy of this policy.

Beyond that, the 310 million passenger figure certainly shows that -- contrary to the thinking of many people -- railroad passenger traffic is neither dead nor dying. Great numbers of us like to ride the trains. We like the leisure, the service, the chance for a pleasant rest while vacationing or between business appointments. And railroads are responding with better passenger service on runs where patronage shows that it is justified and wanted. The Iron Horse is right in there pitching.

AN AUTHENTIC AMERICAN TRAGEDY

In the classical definition a tragedy is a story in which human beings act out a hopeless drama against the background of an inexorable and inevitable fate.

The trial in Hayneville, Ala., fits this category. Even though a farce through and through, it was basically a tragedy. Its outcome, like that of all other similar trials in the South, was a foregone conclusion.

It does not really matter whether the man accused of killing a civil rights worker was guilty of murder or not. It does not matter that the charge was arbitrarily reduced to manslaughter, nor that the prosecution was not permitted time to produce its key witness.

The verdict would have been the same in any event.

What matters is that there will be more such cases in the future, and that the rest of the nation outside the South will no more expect justice in them than it has learned to expect it in the past.

It would be useless for others to condemn those involved in the Hayneville trial for betraying one of the fundamental principles on which the strength and integrity of American depends -- that of equality before the law. Caught as they are in their inherited prejudices, it is obvious that they are entirely ignorant of the meaning of this principle.

By their verdict they have condemned themselves.

HOW TO ACT -- WHEN BUYING A NEW SUIT!

The average man, trying on a suit for the first time in a clothing store, just stands there in front of a mirror -- and either likes or does not like what he sees. That, however, is only a part of the "try-on" -- If he wants fit, comfort and good looks, for real satisfaction, first put everything that you normally carry -- wallet, keys, handkerchief, etc. --into the pockers of the suit. Second, see if the garment looks and feels good that way. Third, sit down in a chair, relax, slouch or however you sit -- and see if it's okay that way. If it passes inspection these three ways, you'll be getting a properly fitting and good-looking suit for your money!

THE ONE AND ONLY ATTITUDE

A short time ago the Defense Department closed 26 domestic installations in this country. They had become obsolete, they no longer served a useful purpose and represented a needless drain on the taxpayers' money.

In the days following, news media recorded many cries of protest. Some came from affected business groups, some from civic organizations, some from Congressmen of the regions concered. "But," says a publication of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, "these adverse reactions were fewer than might be expected. In contrast, many business organizations in the areas affected expressed their approval although regretting the necessity of the closings. Their reaction can be summarized like this:

"We cannot have our cake and eat it, too; we cannot demand reduced government expenditures and then howl like a banshee when an economy move adversely affects our area."

Let us all devoutly hope that this is a correct appraisal. For, the attitude it describes is the only one which can make possible, and bring about, urgently needed economies in government -- whether in the defense complex or in any other activity.

TRENDS AND HOW TO TURN THEM

If there is one proposition in America today that practically everybody would agree on, it is that the trend in this country is toward bigger and bigger government. Some hail this trend; others decry it. But few will deny that it is there.

In and of itself, the existence of this trend gives those who like it what seems to be an exceedingly powerful weapon in their cause. In a thousand different ways they repeat the theme; the trend is running our way and whether you like it or not, you have to follow along.

Allied with this is the curious argument, sometimes expressed, sometimes merely implied, that since the trend is running toward big government and restricted freedom, that trend must be sound and right, and opposition to it is hostility to "progress."

It is worthwhile to note that neither of these arguments deterred the architects of Fabian socialism when they began their work in America sixty years ago. In those days the trend still ran toward freedom and there was real progress. This did not prevent the Fabian socialists from starting a new trend and riding it to one victory after another.

Historic trends are made by men who know what they want and work hard to get it. They are made by men who do not measure right and wrong by majority vote, but by their own thinking. They are made by men who do not fear to denounce any errors of their contemporaries, however far-reaching. Men like that today, who believe in freedom, can still turn the tide. HLH

DOWN FOR THE THIRD TIME

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON -- Vice Admiral Glynn R. Donaho, Commander of the Military Sea Transportation Service, has been scrambling frantically to find enough American ships to carry supplies to Viet Nam.

At present he hasn't got them. Fifty ships laid up in the reserve fleet from World War II has been put back into service -- at a high cost -- but despite this there just aren't enough U.S. flag ships to carry supplies to Viet Nam.

This, together with the tragedy of the Yarmouth Castle, a Panamanian flag ship which cost the lives of 89 passengers, focuses attention upon the tremendous number of American companies putting their ships under Panamanian, Liberian, or Honduran flags.

The total number of U. S. ships under these three flags, as of Jan. 1, 1964, was 409. And the companies using them are not fly-by-night operators but some of the biggest in the USA.

They included Standard Oil of New Jersey, Texaco, Gulf Oil, Standard Oil of California, and Socony -- Mobil, these five owning over half of the American tankers registered under the Panamanian and Liberian flags.

Two giants of the aluminum industry -- Alcoa and Reynolds metals -- also use foreign flag ships to transport their bauxite.

Another category of foreign flag shippers carries iron ore from Venezuela and other foreign sources -- Bethlehem Steel; the National Steel Corporation, owned by ex-Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey; Permanente Cement, owned by the Kaiser family; U. S. Gypsum, and Utah Construction and Mining.

Finally, the American sugar refinery carries sugar, also regarded as strategic, in foreign flag ships.

TAX-SAVING VESSELS

These ships never sail into the ports of the countries whose flags they fly. Probably none of them have been to Panama, Liberia, or Honduras. They do not employ the citizens of Panama, Liberia, or Honduras, and they do not pay any income taxes to those countries. Liberia, for instance, requires a vessel to pay an initial registry tax of 10 cents per ton.

More important, these vessels do not pay taxes to the United States, nor for the most part do they hire American citizens or comply with U.S. safety standards. The money they make is kept abroad and they avoid paying the 52 per cent corporation tax.

Meanwhile the five oil companies which operate these ships, Standard of New Jersey, Texaco, Gulf, Standard of California and Socony, racked up record earnings of nearly $1.3 billion during the first six months of 1964. They are also enjoying the 27½ per cent oil depletion allowance.

With the Defense Department desperately hard up for shipping to Viet Nam, some officials wonder whether this is the time to take over these foreign flag vessels.

BALKY FOREIGN CREWS

The alternative is to hire foreign bottoms. However, many foreign crews refuse to carry U. S. war supplies. Mexico, for instance, advised the United States Aug. 24 that no Mexican ships would be permitted to carry cargo to Viet Nam. For this reason the SS El Mexicano was unloaded at Long Beach, Calif., though chartered by States Marine Lines, the company owned by former CIA Chief John McCone.

El Mexicano's cargo was shifted to the Embiricos, but on Aug. 30 its Greek crew refused to sail to Viet Nam, and its cargo was shifted a second time to the Bay state, owned by States Marine.

One week later in Tacoma, Wash., the Greek Freighter Marilena P. refused to sail and its cargo was transferred to the Moormacriegel, an American ship.

The British flag freighter London Craftsman was twice held up en route to Viet Nam, first in Kobe, Japan, because her Indian crew refused to sail to Viet Nam; Later in Hong Kong when Chinese replacements for the Indian crew refused to sail.

Also held up were the British flag ship Elys Harbour in Brisbane, Australia, and the tanker Hemisusus in the Netherlands, both with Chinese crews, supposedly with nationalist backgrounds. However, they refused to carry war cargoes to Viet Nam.

XMAS GIFTS TO GI'S

So many Americans have donated cookies, cakes and other Christmas presents to GIs in Viet Nam as a token of their support that the Defense Department is swamped, hasn't got available transportation.

One alternative solution could be public contributions to USO, which has been asked to triple its work in Viet Nam to entertain 150,000 U.S. troops.

This means raising another $1 million for the USO. Dollars can be shipped to Viet Nam without breaking down the flow of all-important military supplies. They are much easier to transport than cookies, books, etc., and USO clubs are deeply appreciated.

WASHINGTON -- When the cause of the great northwestern power failure was discovered, faces inside the Federal Power Commission turned red enough to be seen in a blackout.

For a tiny relay, scarcely three inches long, had caused a massive failure that the FPC had claimed H-bombs couldn't produce.

In a 425-page report last year, the FPC boasted that the interconnected power system would keep power flowing into damaged areas. Thus a massive failure was deemed unlikely even in the event of a nuclear attack.

Yet it was precisely this interconnected system which produced the chain reaction that blacked out most of the northeast from Canada to New York City.

"Today," declared the FPC report, "an interconnected group of power systems covering 39 central and eastern states and two Canadian provinces are inter-tied sufficiently to enable their 165,000,000 kilowatts of electrical generation to operate in parallel. . .

"The greater interconnection of systems enhances survivability. More specifically, it decreases the probability that a given service area would be totally without power."

PUBLISHER SUES IRS

How Internal Revenue sleuths tapped wires, this time those of a newspaper publisher, is disclosed in court charges brought by Wilton E. Hall, publisher of the Anderson, S. C., Daily Mail.

Tax sleuths were seen sitting in a car outside of Hall's home for several days, and later two experts on wire tapping, Harold K. Lipset and Ralph H. Bertsche, were brought in on the case and discovered a small radio transmitter attached to the telephone junction box near the Hall residence.

Chief of Police Parker clamp of Anderson and Hall's attorney then sat in a car three blocks from the Hall residence and were able to listen to Mrs. Hall's conversation with her daughter on the telephone---thanks to the radio transmitter which had been placed in the phone junction box.

Chief of Police Clamp has impounded the radio transmitter and Hall has filed charges against Internal Revenue.

U. S. CHAMPION OF DICTATORS

John Vaughn, hard-nosed assistant Secretary of State, is in for senatorial trouble when he comes back to Washington from the Rio De Janeiro conference.

He has already tangled with Sen. Robert Kennedy in a huffy session in which Vaughn criticized the late President Kennedy for suspending aid to the Peruvian military government in 1962 and the Dominican military government in 1963. Vaughn put himself on the side of the military dictators.

In Washington Vaughn is also in for trouble with the Chairman of the Senate Subcommittee on Latin American affairs, Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore. The military - minded assistant Secretary of State has been quoted as saying that it was typical of liberals and leftists not to realize that the only progress made in Latin America is by the military governments.

"Sen. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, is the only one who understands Latin America," Vaughn was quoted as saying. "He gets out and visits the slums."

"Someone ought to send Vaughn the roll call on housing and slum clearance," grunted Hickenlooper's Democratic colleague from Oregon. Morse referred to the fact that Hickenlooper has voted against almost every slum clearance and public housing bill to come before the Senate.

DINNER FOR PRINCESS

It was surprising how many people qualified as "Young" at the White House party for Princess Margaret -- among them Justice Abe Fortas of the Supreme Court, aged 55, and Secretary of Defense McNamara, aged 49. . .Johnson did what Truman and Eisenhower did when they entertained royalty -- though not JFK. Johnson invited most of his White House Staff to attend the Princess Margaret dinner. Kennedy left the staff out to make room for outsiders. Ike invited members of his family and so did Truman. . . on one occasion when Prime Minister Attlee of England had flown across the Atlantic especially to see Truman, he kept the Prime Minister of England waiting a full day while he, Harry, entertained Gen. David Sarnoff, then head of NBC, who had just given a singing job to daughter Margaret. Attlee wasn't even included in the White House luncheon.

ONE MAN'S VICTORY

Credit a freshman Congressman, supposed to be seen and not heard, with canceling the Warsaw Pact, an agreement whereby all international airlines are limited to $8,300 damages in case a passenger is killed or injured. Rep. Lester Wolff, D-N. Y., crusaded to cancel this agreement negotiated before World War II when the airlines weren't making money. One recent award agreed to by American airlines totaled over $900,000 in contrast to the limit the foreign airlines were required by treaty to pay -- $8,300.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara was fit to be tied when Adlai Stevenson was quoted as saying McNamara blocked peace talks with North Viet Nam in the late Fall of 1964. The Secretary of Defense was happier after the victory over the aluminum companies. He turned up at Averell Harriman's costume party, his face painted with aluminum, carrying a copper shield to war off the aluminum industry. Mrs. McNamara wore an evening dress with tennis shoes, the bridge of her nose built up with plastic . . . Bobby Kennedy is reported negotiating to buy a New York newspaper . . Dorothey Kilgallen, the Broadway columnist, had just taken a drastic cut from her newspaper syndicate before she took sleeping pills.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Businessmen's Political Action Committee Calls Top Strategists To National Parley to Give Labor a Run in '66 Campaign

NEW YORK--On November 16 the President of the U. S. dispatched a promissory note to his good friend, the president of the auto workers' union.

It was a "Dear Walter" letter. And it pledged to Reuther the unleashing of a White House drive for the passage of the remaining labor program when the Congress returns from home and hearth.

There was nothing "iffy" about the President's promise to fight for the labor leaders' most prized objectives of the '65 session -- repeal of the law which makes it possible for the states to ban the union shop; higher and wider minimum wages and longer and steadier unemployment insurance.

". . .many vital objectives have not been attained," said the President, in the two-page letter after recounting the victories in the recent Congressional session.

"Amendment of the Fair Labor Standards Act and the Unemployment Insurance laws is part of the unfinished business of the Congress and the Nation. These must be given high priority.

"We have made significant progress in 1965 toward the long-sought goal of repealing Section 14(b). Just as we had to come back last year to finish the unfinished battle for Medicare, we will come back in the next session to remove this devisive provision from the law."

The letter closed with greetings to the AFL-CIO Industrial Union Dept.'s annual convention. The President hoped the parley would "prove highly productive and fruitful for the men and women you represent and for the Nation you serve so faithfully."

This letter has become a conversation piece among businessmen in the big town. They are realists. They know that power is in votes -- and that the Congressmen whom the businessmen count as friends just don't count up high enough to stop the labor drive up the Hill.

These industrialists -- among whom Reuther would not exactly win a most popular personality contest -- don't blame him and the other labor leaders for getting the jump on them. They rue it. And they're organizing here in an effort to beat him at his own political game.

For some time now this column has been chronicling the life and hard times of their brainchild, the Business-Industry Political Action Committee (BIPAC). It is directed by two modest men in a modest office at 14 W. 49 in a mood which is as rueful as it is hopeful.

In less than two years BIPAC has set up State Businessmen's Political Committees in some 30 states.

On Dec. 1 the committee chiefs --most of them prominent business executives -- will meet for an afternoon in the Waldorf. They'll talk for an hour or so; exchange experiences, discuss expansion into every state during the 1966 Congressional campaign; grab a cocktail and head into the most uncertain competition of their careers.

They'll attempt to have enough political apparatus to meet labor's Committee on Political Education head on in 103 Congressional districts.

Most of them have not yet heard of the "Dear Walter" letter. But all of them are fully aware of the successful alliance of labor and liberals and most of the Democratic Party.

The industrialists are wasting no time on rancor or recriminations. They're building up a new "sales" front.

"It took COPE 20 years to get it where it is now," said one of the strategists recently. "The trade union boys realized very early what basic power there is in politics. But in general the business people have not yet recognized this, strange as it seems. Or if they've recognized it, they hadn't moved until we began organizing BIPAC."

But how to compete with COPE whose unions have 14 million members well organized in nearly every state. BIPAC's directors believe there is ample manpower--and more-- on the business side. They reckon that there are 5 million business establishments in the country and "almost 30 million people in the proprietory, managerial, supervisory, clerical, sales and professional categories." They really have more potential manpower than does labor.

How to reach them? BIPAC's tacticians have been urging "the chief executive officer" of each business "to address a personal letter to each of his associates, enclosing BIPAC information and a membership application." They say it works.

It may take some time before they give labor a run on the political front. But the fight sure is looming.

NEW YORK AP -- What to do with leftover turkey?

This is the problem that will face many American families today.

Unlike a chicken, which quits growing when there is enough of it to satisfy anybody, a turkey is an architectural extravaganza.

People have been saying for some time that something ought to be done about the turkey, the wattled token of the noblest of American holidays-Thanksgiving.

As a matter of fact, something is being done about the turkey, According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, whose bulletins I recommend as a remedy for middle-aged insomnia, the turkey is getting both larger and smaller.

I understand it now ranges in weight at maturity from eight to 75 pounds.

In our upside down civilization the size of the turkey on the Thanksgiving table is a status symbol.

The richer you are the smaller the turkey you order--and the more per pound you pay for it.

The poorer you are, the larger the turkey you buy--and the less per pound you pay for it.

The rich don't have much of a problem, They eat their turkey at a single meal, then sail the bones out their penthouse window and start looking forward to Christmas.

The poor, as usual, are stuck.

To begin with, their turkey is so large that the children sprain their wrists trying to break the wishbone.

Their ordeal begins the day after Thanksgiving. What to do with leftover turkey?

For several days a wife can dice it and hash it. After that her husband and kids refuse to have anything to do with it. The dog won't eat it. The cat walks away from it.

Things that can be done:

It can be ground up and mixed with starch and used as wallpaper paste.

You can be patriotic about it, and offer it to the U.S. Navy as ballast.

You can wrap it in anonymous paper and mail it as a CARE package to wealthy friends.

On some dark midnight you can take it out and bury it in the back yard, muttering as you do so, "No one knows the real troubles of poverty."

Then, if you buckle down and work real hard, maybe by next Thanksgiving you can earn enough money to afford a smaller turkey.

Mrs. Gerald Michael Bird

Shabie Sue Proffer Is Bride Of Gerald Michael Bird

MATTHEWS -- Miss Shabie Sue Proffer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Proffer of Matthews, route two, became the bride of Gerald Michael Bird, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Bird of Advance, route two, at 4 p.m. on Sunday, Nov. 14. The Rev. Myron E. Neal performed the double ring ceremony at the Sikeston First Christian Church.

Daniel Malone rendered a program of appropriate selections preceding the ceremony, the traditional marches, and accompanied the vocalist, Mrs. Gary Rewtzel, of Advance.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a coat and sheath ensemble of silk-face peau de soie. The formal strapless sheath gown was adorned with a bodice of Alencon lace which was sprinkled with seed pearls and hand cut crystal beads. The luxurious coat of peau de soie was fitted at the waist and closed under the bust with covered buttons to emphasize the lace bodice of the sheath. It featured capucci type sleeves which were adorned with pearl and crystal beaded Alencon lace inserts accented with two tiny rosebuds. The skirt of the coat swept into a full chapel train and was adorned with lace inserts accented with tiny rose buds. Her veil, made of silk illusion, fell into a full chapel train and was secured by a crown of seed pearls, hand-cut crystal beads, and peau de soie rosebuds. Her bouquet was of butterfly roses.

Mrs. Michael Proffer, the bride's sister-in - law of Matthews, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were the Miss Linda Bird and Miss Donna Wagley, of Matthews, Miss Louanna Sutton, Canalou; Miss Beth Bird, sister of the groom, of Advance; and Mrs. David Hall of Sikeston.

The matron of honor wore a floor-length gown of emerald green silk brocade. The gown was fashioned with an empire waist, featuring a round neckline and camelot sleeves accented with tiny rosebuds. The controlled skirt was adorned with a pleat on both sides and held in place with two tiny rose buds. The back of the skirt was gathered to give it a "flowing" effect. The headpiece was an emerald green silk brocade pillbox trimmed with white fur and a nosetip veil. She carried a matching white fur muff accented with a single American Beauty rose.

The bridesmaids were attired in ensembles of the same style but American beauty rose in color. They all wore matching satin shoes.

Gretchen Rewtzel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Rewtzel, was flower girl. She wore a gown identical to that of the bridesmaids and carried a white fur-trimmed basket filled with American beauty roses. Gaither Daugherty, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Gaither Daugherty of Sikeston, was ring bearer.

A candelabra filled with tall white tapers and four baskets of American beauty roses adorned the altar of the church.

Gerald Bird served his son as best man. Groomsmen were Gary Rewtzel, Donald Rhodes, and Larry Van Gennip, all of Advance; and Michael Proffer, brother of the bride, of Matthews. Charles Thomas Proffer, brother of the bride, was an usher.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony at the Holiday Inn with Mrs. Rebecca Sharp of New Madrid in charge. Servers were Miss Deene Ann Whitten, Miss Sue Fusselman, Miss Jan Engram, and Miss Betty Lewis. They wore pink dresses and a corsage of American beauty roses. Miss Mary Jane Steward of Piedmont, who presided at the guest book, wore an emerald green brocade sheath.

Black ornamental screens twined with ivy and red roses formed the background for the reception table. It was covered with a white brocade cloth overlaid with net which was caught in swags with white wedding bells. The four-tiered wedding cake was topped with pink bells and flanked with silver candelabra with white tapers. Silver coffee service and punch bowl were on either end of the table. Nuts and mints were served from silver compotes.

The couple left immediately following the ceremony for a wedding trip to Lake of the Ozarks.

Mrs. Bird was graduated from Matthews High School in 1964. She attended Southeast Missouri State College one year.

Mr. Bird was graduated from Advance High School in 1961. He was employed with the H. C. Price Pipe Line Co. until 1964. He is presently employed with his father in farming and the fertilizer business. The couple will make their home at Advance.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Bird entertained with the rehearsal dinner at the Holiday Inn on Saturday evening, Nov. 13. Those attending other than in the wedding party were Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Shell of Advance, grandparents of the groom; Miss Jan Ingram of Vanduser, Mack Spitzmiller of Bloomfield, Mrs. Lyle Bird and Mrs. Paul Farrenburg of Matthews, and Mr. and Mrs. Gaither Daugherty of Sikeston.

REACH JOINT GOAL

LAFAYETTE, Calif. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Sam Goldeen have four children and two law degrees. The couple have just passed their California State Bar examinations after five years during which their study of law books occupied every spare moment.

In addition Barbara looked after the children and the house, cooked, baked and sewed. Her husband worked six days and one night each week at a men's and boys' wear store in which he is a partner.

The Modern Christian

Can Anger Help The Christian?

When we speak of anger, we are referring to the instinctive urge to suppress and repel whatever is hostile to us. This force in man, when well-ordered, is a tremendous help in attaining lofty objectives.

Too often, anger is seen merely as a liability, and a negation it will be, unless a man reconstructs its force to a commitment of value. The Christian ideal is not nonchalant resignation. The Lord himself is a striking example of manly anger. He was certainly not a piece of driftwood that floated with every popular current of the day.

"He overturned the tables of the money-changers", because he was angry and did not want the present state of conditions to continue. We must distinguish in anger between emotional agitation stirring within us and the conscious consent to it. If man allows anger to control him, he is in a state of disorder. Anger is for man, and not the other way around.

To be stirred to greater anger over the mistakes and faults of others than our own, which are no less serious, is the example of a man controlled by anger. A wholesome sense of humor which enables us to see ourselves in the mistakes of others is a marvelous thing. We need to accept ourselves in weakness and in strength. We need to assess the force of anger that lies within us and channel it well, and surely, not against wife or husband, children or friends.

Anger need not be an inordinate urge to crush what we do not like. Rather, anger can help us to overcome the difficult and arduous. Anger controlled is the path to Christian maturity.

Decision Takes Two-Seconds

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Glenn Dobbs is not one to make rash decisions. So the Tulsa coach gave long and careful consideration to the invitation for his football team to appear in the Bluebonnet Bowl game.

It took, oh, about two seconds.

"It just so happens we can go," Dobbs said after his swift-striking Hurricane had stormed over Colorado State University 48-20 Thursday with the record-breaking passing combination of Billy Anderson to Howard Twilley setting still more national marks.

Tulsa, which finished at 8-2, will play Tennessee in the Dec. 18 game in Houston. Tennessee, 5-1-2, has two games left, including Saturday's match with Vanderbilt.

"This is the greatest thrill of my life," said Twilley, who finished second in the Heisman Trophy voting and comes from a Houston suburb.

Anderson, who passed for a national record 502 yards against Colorado State, had to engineer a big last quarter. Leading only 21-20, Anderson clicked on last-quarter touchdown passes covering 60,63, 51 and 13 yards.

Nebraska, ranked third in the nation, closed out a 10-0 regular season, its first perfect season in 50 years, with a 21-9 comeback against Oklahoma; Texas rallied for a 21-17 decision over Texas A&M, Cornell crushed Penn 38-14 and Virginia Tech beat VMI 44-13 in the other major Thanksgiving Day games.

The long football weekend continues Saturday with a flock of traditional games, topped by the Army-Navy match in Philadelphia.

Navy is a one-touchdown favorite in the game, which has little but tradition to recommend it this year. The Middies are 4-4-1 and Army is 4-5, with Navy working against a tougher schedule.

Probably the most important game is Alabama's meeting with Auburn in Birmingham. Both are bound for bowl games, and the winner takes the Southeastern Conference title with him.

Alabama, 7-1-1 and Nebraska's opponent in the Orange Bowl, is ranked fifth nationally and is favored. Auburn, bolstered by an invitation to the Liberty Bowl, is 5-3-1 over-all, but 4-0-1 in the SEC. Both 'Bama and Auburn were tied by Tennessee.

In some of the other traditional games, Gator Bowl-bound Georgia Tech plays Georgia, Boston College is at Holy Cross, Arizona at Arizona State, Florida State at Sugar Bowl - bound Florida, Mississippi at Mississippi State, Baylor at Rice and Southern Methodist at Texas Christian.

Notre Dame, ranked sixth after losing last week's tough battle with Michigan State, closes out at Miami, Wyoming is at Southern California, Brigham Young at New Mexico, and West Texas State at Texas Western in others.

Nebraska Coach Gives His Team Number One Spot

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

LINCOLN, Neb. AP — Nebraska's talented team has given Bob Devaney his first perfect season in college football, and the nation's winningest coach made it clear he considers his team No. 1 no matter how the national poll voting goes.

"This is the high point of my career," he said Thanksgiving Day after his Big Eight champs rallied to whip stubborn Oklahoma 21 - 9 before 52,865 and a national television audience.

The normally unemotional Huskers, ranked third nationally, tossed Devaney and his assistants under the showers.

"This is the best team we've ever had and these boys are as good as anybody," Devaney said. "The 1963 team 10-1, Orange Bowl, Big Eight champs was good but it lost one. This year's team maintained its poise in tough situations.

"It has better personnel, more talent, more depth and it's more explosive. Many times it's harder to win 10 when everybody expects it than when you sneak up on it."

Nebraska locked up its first perfect season since 1915 and will take a 10-0 record against once-beaten Alabama in the Orange Bowl.

Devaney thinks this one may be the best bowl games this season.

"Just look at Alabama's great bowl record," he said.

Devaney's 73-15-5 record for an .812 percentage leads the nation's active college coaches. He is 38-5 at Nebraska, with four bowl teams and three straight Big Eight crowns. At Wyoming his record was 35-10-5.

Halfback Harry Light Horse Wilson led the Huskers Thursday with a 66-yard touchdown run and raced behind the secondary for a 38-yard TD pass from Bob Churchich, both in the third quarter.

The Huskers gained revenge for Oklahoma's season-ending 17-7 upset last year that spoiled a perfect record. But they had to do it the hard way. The fired-up Sooners hit hard, blocked a punt and pounced on three fumbles for a 9-0 lead. Charlie (Choo Choo) Winters made it 9-7 at halftime with a 29-yard TD blast, running over two men.

Trick Play Used In Texas-A&M Game

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. AP — The Texas - Texas A&M game may have meant nothing except pride to its participants, but those who saw it Thursday will never forget a trick play that becomes part of the football lore of the Southwest Conference.

Texas won 21-17 with a mighty comeback effort but that wasn't all that had 40,000 fans screaming from the start of the second period until the end.

The sensational trick that brought an Aggie touchdown at the end of a 91-yard play was the product of the imagination of Coach Gene Stallings of Texas A&M.

"I used it in an intrasquad game while coaching at Alabama," said Stallings, "but not the way we did it today."

The play consisted of the quarterback throwing a lateral that bounced on the ground and exhibiting disgust that the couldn't get the ball up. The other played at the end of the lateral picked up the ball and stamped his foot to indicate his disgust, too. With the opposition lulled, he ran with the ball.

But the Aggies added something to it.

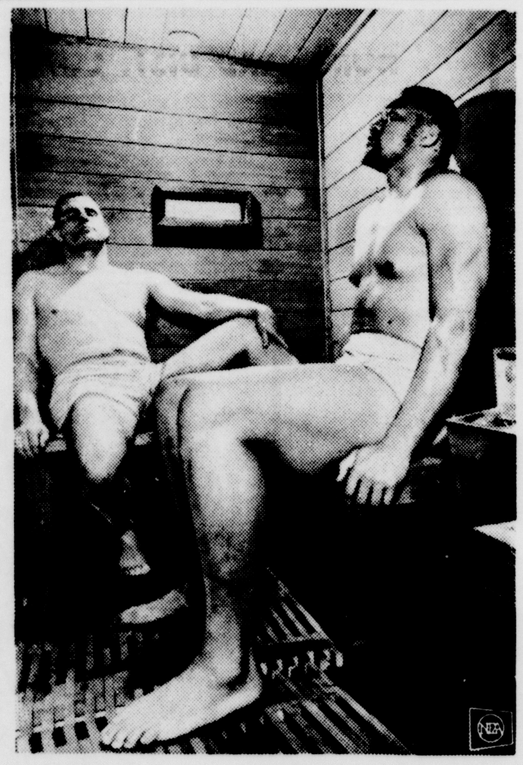

Here's what happened: A & M had the ball on its nine. Harry Ledbetter, the quarterback, threw toward Jim Kauffmann over close to the sideline. The ball bounced into Kauffmann's hands. Ledbetter and Kauffmann did the acting expected of them. Then when Texas thought it was just an incomplete pass, Kauffmann threw to Ken McLean, the great Aggie end, waiting at the 50-yard line with no one ahead of him. McLean ran for the touchdown, unmolested.

This so shocked Texas that the Longhorns played too cautiously and the Aggies added another touchdown and field goal to lead 17-0 at the half.

But during the intermission Coach Darrell Royal, who said of the trick play, "I've never heard of it before; never saw anybody nervy enough to try it," told his team a thing or two.

Marvin Kristynik, playing his last game for Texas, led the Longhorns in one of the great comebacks of Texas football history. His passing and running paved the way for three touchdowns, and Texas beat Texas A& M the ninth time in a row.

Unitas Survives Rough Holiday

By BERNIE KENNEDY
Associated Press Sports Writer

DETROIT AP — Johnny Unitas survived one of his roughest days in the National Football League Thursday but Detroit Coach Harry Gilmer said things might have been different if his Lions could have the final 24 seconds of the game back.

Unitas, battered by the Lions all afternoon and held to 14 completions in 34 attempts, tossed three scoring passes as the Colts gained a 24-24 tie and retained their one-game lead over Green Bay in the NFL's Western Conference.

Unitas completed only six passes in the second half, five of them were in the final quarter, including 51 and 15-yard scoring tosses to John Mackey.

The Lions, who held the Colts twice deep in their own territory before the tying score, got their last chance when Pat Studstill called for a fair catch on the Baltimore 42 with 24 seconds to go.

Milt Plum, noticing the clock was running, threw the ball out of bounds and Wayne Walker missed on a 50-yard field goal try in the final seconds.

Two Giants In Golf Spotlight

By BEN THOMAS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LAFAYETTE, La. AP -- Two blond giants who hit a golf ball a country mile were in the spotlight today as the $30,179 Cajun Classic -- traditionally the final tourney on the PGA national circuit each year -- went into its second round.

One is Jack Nicklaus, who not only has won two Masters' titles but has become a master of about all he can see on the fairways in just four years.

The other is Paul Bondeson, a 25-year-old ex - paratrooper who has never won a tournament. He had to lay off the tour during the summer to get what he calls his attitude straightened out.

By attitude, Bondeson - who made his first start in a PGA tourney at the Cajun Classic four years ago -- means his tendency to get rattled and despondent over a bad shot and blow sky high.

Bondeson cut six strokes off par for a 66 and the first round lead in the Cajun Classic Thursday. A bogey on the final hole, a par 3 with a yawning lagoon in front of the green which he overshot, kept the handsome swinger from having a 65.

There's another golfer in good position to win his first tournament. John Josephson, a youngster from New Jersey who's playing in his first PGA tourney, carded a 68 and shared second place two strokes behind Bondeson with eight others including tour fixtures Frank Beard and Bert Weaver, No pro --not Nicklaus, nor Arnie Palmer, nor Gary Player--ever won his first time out.

Nicklaus, despite trouble with two par 5 holes remained in contention with a 69.

The Golden Bear electrified the gallery following him on the beautiful 75 degree Thanksgiving Day by booming a drive almost 400 yards on one par 5. Then he took a nine iron and hit the pit. The ball rolled past two feet and the Columbus, Ohio shotmaker tapped it in for an eagle.

Bondeson also got an eagle on a par 5, using a four wood on his second shot to place the ball four inches away from the cup.

Mrs. Alva Garner and son, Ramsey, and Miss Betty Northington were guests of relatives and friends in Poplar Bluff one day last week.

Robert A. Dempster, who had been serving in the United States Navy for the past 3 1/2 years, six months of which were spent in the Pacific area, has returned to Sikeston to resume his law practice. He has re-opened his office in the McCoy-Tanner building.

A pair of lifelong sweethearts, Judge and Mrs. Frank H. Smith, re-lived their 50 years of married life Tuesday as friends and relatives helped them celebrate their golden wedding anniversary.

Miss Peggy Dalton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Blair Dalton of Sikeston, and Bill Swacker youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Art Swacker of Atlanta, Ga., will be united in marriage on Friday afternoon, the ceremony to take place at the Sikeston Methodist church, with the pastor, the Rev. M. G. Joyce, officiating.

PRAYER For Today From The Upper Room

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 26

I have learned, in whatsoever state I am, therewith to be content. (Philippians 4:11)

PRAYER: Father, teach us to face life with the gratitude characteristic of Thy redeemed children. How grateful we are that Thou hast given us light and power to meet every situation and person in our daily experiences as sons and daughters of Thine. May we permit our lives to be channels through which the Holy Spirit may flow into the hearts of all we meet. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

ANN LANDERS Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a blue-eyed brunet raised on a farm near Alpena, Michigan. I came to Detroit, got a job as a secretary and fell in love with a prominent executive in the automobile industry. Greg was evasive about where he lived but I never pushed it. Yesterday he telephoned to say he had the flu and couldn't keep our date. I decided to surprise him with a honey and lemon syrup my grandmother used to make. I got his address from the office manager.

Greg was sick all right and when he opened the door and saw me he got a whole lot sicker. The first thing I noticed was a satin housecoat and some ostrich feather bedroom slippers. He said, "I know what you're thinking and you're wrong. That stuff belongs to a sweet kid from Sheboygan who is out of work and needed a place to stay. She'll be out of here tomorrow."

I called him a liar and left. When I got home the phone was ringing. He begged me to believe him. Would you?
--EGG ON MY FACE

Dear Egg: Would I believe your big - hearted Romeo is playing housemother to a busted kid from Sheboygan? No. I would not. And neither should you.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a dentist who is 86 years old and have been practicing since 1903. Your column on how some dentists handled emergencies was fascinating.

I have had many emergency calls and I've never turned away a patient in pain, even though another patient had to wait.

My most memorable experience occurred many years ago. It was 1:00 a.m. on a bitter cold night. A patient called, and he was in agony and asked me to meet him at my office and give him some relief.

I got out of bed, dressed in the warmest clothing I could find and headed for the office. He was waiting at the door. After I gave him an injection of local anesthetic he smiled broadly and said, "Thanks a million, Doc, I've had this darned toothache for three weeks and it feels better now than it has in all that time."

I didn't say what I was thinking, but it wasn't easy to keep quiet.

I have read your column regularly and I think you give some really level - headed advice. --DR. H. C. F.

Dear Doctor: Thank you for a delightful letter. And how blessed is your community to have had you as a practicing dentist for 62 years!

Dear Ann Landers: I am surprised at you -- telling that woman to consider court action just because her husband hit her over the head with a suitcase. After all, he was showing her that he cared.

This man probably was a little upset over something and he didn't really WANT to leave. He was only pretending that he wanted to leave--to test his wife's love.

I know how it is with my husband. Every once in a while he loses his temper and socks me. But I accept it as a compliment. If he didn't love me he wouldn't get so mad. Even though he has his little faults I would follow him to the end of the earth because I love him. Well? -- B'S WIFE

Dear Wife: No. Sick.

Unsure of yourself on dates? What's right? What's wrong? Should you? Shouldn't you? Send for Ann Landers' booklet "Dating Do's and Don'ts," enclosing with your request 35¢ in coin and a long, self-addressed stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Drumming It Up

A BANDLEADER'S DAUGHTER, Lori Ann Wagner, 5, Milwaukee, Wis., is the 1966 National March of Dimes Poster Child. Here, at the drums, she's whooping it up for the cause she symbolizes. Pretty child was born with an open spine and is paralyzed below waist. Every year in U.S. 250,000 babies are born with serious birth defects. Moreover, birth defects are the nation's second greatest destroyer of life when prenatal loss is included. You can aid scientific research into these tragedies and support patient treatment by giving to the March of Dimes this January.

NursingHome Bids Being Accepted

KENNETT -- Bids are now being accepted for the construction of a 50-bed professional nursing home in Kennett.

The new nursing home, to be owned by Dr. C. R. Peck of Kennett and Dr. R. L. Palenske of Hornersville, will be located at the northwest corner of Teaco Road and the South By-Pass.

Dr. Peck said the structure will cost about $200,000 and is expected to be ready for occupancy by early next summer.

Architect for the new building is Pleas E. Hyatt of Kennett. Hyatt said the building will be of fireproof construction and will meet all requirements of the Missouri Department.

The new nursing home has met building and equipment requirements to be licensed for professional nursing care. It will be constructed of brick veneer with steel-framed roofing.

THE REBIRTH OF THE WEST GERMAN ECONOMY

Ludwig Erhardt became minister of economic affairs of the Bonn Government in Germany in the Spring of 1948. He has testified that he had a difficult time with the British and American economists in the military government. He says, "It was strictly laid down by the British and American control authorities that permission had to be obtained before any definite price changes could be made. The allies never seem to have thought it possible that someone would have the idea not to alter price controls, but simply to remove them." The allied economists were continually demanding more controls, while Erhardt wanted to abolish controls.

Erhardt put currency stability in the forefront of his objectives, but the allied economists preferred full employment to the stability of the currency, apparently not realizing that a stable currency is a powerful aid to full employment. All forces except Erhardt and William Roepke, his adviser, joined for a general attack on the market economy, forgetting that only through greater productivity and free competition on the basis of the stability of our money, could we secure our position in the world markets.

Erhardt wanted to lower certain taxes and discontinue others in order to step up consumption and lighten the burden of the economy. The allied economists "at first refused to listen to this tax reform." The head of the economic control administration in Germany expressed his distaste for what Erhardt was doing by describing the German tax system as the most antisocial in the world."

Erhardt has reported, "there is constant pressure from the USA to introduce controls. . ."

The American Advisory Commission of which Walter Heller, economic adviser to the late President Kennedy, was a member, advised unbalanced budgets, deficit spending, and economic controls. Erhardt resisted these and achieved great success. Balanced budgets and sound money were two of the principle reasons for the remarkable economic recovery that took place in West Germany.

No one knows how much effort free men can mobilize or what their potentiality is for the production of wealth. Someone has said the best way to discover who is capable of achievement is to permit all to try, each in accordance with his own inclinations and ideals. That is the only way to achieve the full potentials of men, and it cannot be done under any system of controlled economy. It can be tested only in a free economy, and experience shows that it is infinitely more productive than any other system. The enormous outpouring of wealth that took place in America after the Revolution is proof of this statement. The German experience is additional proof.

When the allied controls were removed and the White - Morgenthau policy of reducing Germany to the status of a cow pasture was abandoned, the West German people were permitted to attempt national regeneration in the political realm. The result was little short of a miracle.

How goodnes heightens beauty!

L. V. Butler Seeking U. S. Supreme Court Review

CAPE GIRARDEAU - L. V. ('Jimmy") Butler, the Memphis, Tenn. grain speculator who was convicted in Cape Girardeau two years ago of illegal interstate shipment of grain and transport of a check is seeking to take his case before the United States Supreme Court.

Butler was sentenced by Federal Judge James H. Meredith to 10 years' imprisonment. He is still free on $50,000 bond pending the outcome of his appeals.

Judge Meredith said Butler had retained the law firm of Edward Bennett Williams, famed criminal lawyer of Washington, D.C., to prosecute at least one phase of his appeal.

And, so far as he knows, the judge added, the Williams firm still represents Butler.

Judge Meredith said that Butler has applied to the U.S. Supreme Court for a writ of certiorari, hoping to have the case reviewed by the high court.

On Butler's first appeal of his conviction and sentence, the Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals upheld the Federal District Court at Cape Girardeau and then overruled Butler in his motion for a reconsideration of that ruling, the federal judge reported.

Then came the application before the U.S. Supreme Court.

Judge Meredith said this is the last stop in the line of appeals for Butler and that unless the Supreme Court overturns the conviction or sends the case back for a new trial, Butler will have to begin serving his sentence.

He pointed out that the first obstacle for Butler is getting the case before the Supreme Court, which can choose not to review it.

Butler was convicted by a Federal Court jury here on Nov. 21, 1963 of the two counts -- the illegal shipment of 90,000 bushels of grain in interstate commerce and the interstate transport of a $6,000 check the government said had been stolen.

His trial lasted three weeks.

Butler was one of the central figures in the greatly involved Federal Grain Co. case from which a number of civil cases in Federal Court here stemmed.

Mississippi County Recreation Committee Meets

CHARLESTON -- An organization and planning meeting of the Mississippi County Recreation Committee was held Monday night at Milam's Cafe in East Prairie, with East Prairian Sam Jones as host.

Art Wallhausen Sr., served as temporary chairman until a permanent officer slate could be elected. Sam Jones was elected chairman, R. Q. Brown vice-chairman and Mike Morris, secretary-treasurer.

The 11-member group was appointed on Nov. 8 by the Mississippi County Court, to study recreational possibilities in the area, make recommendations, and to work with existing local, state and federal agencies. The committee is composed of L. D. Davis, Hunt Wellborn, Sam Jones, A. J. Drinkwater Jr., Marion Waggener, Art Wallhausen Sr., R. Q. Brown, Mike Morris, Urcil Anderson, T. J. Brown Jr., and Wendell Choate. All were present Monday night except Drinkwater, who had an earlier commitment in Dexter where he attended an area Boy Scout function.

The formation of a county-wide sportsman's club is one of the projects to be undertaken. The group then outlined five major development areas or goals:

1. Promote the creation of Grassy Lake in Big Oak State Park. Both the Conservation Commission and State Park Board are interested, and some preliminary work has been done.

2. Build and maintain at least three boat ramps and river access roads.

3. Build access roads to various blue holes and river chutes.

4. Promote Big Lake as recreation area.

5. Work toward the completion of the Ten Mile Pond project.

Present at the Monday night meeting were State Representative David Rolwing, and two members of the County Court, W. H. Winchester Jr., and Lloyd Hall.

Crop Insurance Available For Four Counties

CHARLESTON--Federal Crop Insurance on corn, cotton and soybeans will be available to farmers for the 1966 crop year in Mississippi, Dunklin, Pemiscot and Stoddard Counties. The Department of Agriculture has notified Senators Stuart Symington and Edward V. Long and Congressman Paul C. Jones of this information.

The all-risk insurance covers crop damage due to drought, freeze, insects, disease or other causes.

The Department of Agriculture also announced that wheat insurance will be added to the existing Federal Crop Insurance programs in New Madrid County.

Salesmen for the FCIC will visit the counties and try to contact every farmer during the crop season. Interested farmers not contacted may write to State FCIC Director, Frank Reed Grainger, 605 S. Massachusetts Ave., Sedalia.

The four counties in the Bootheel are included in seven counties throughout the state where the insurance will be offered for the 1966 crop year, raising to 57 the number of Missouri counties where Federal Crop Insurance is available to farmers. During 1965, according to the Department of Agriculture, $5 million in Missouri crop production expenses on some 175,000 acres was protected by Federal Crop Insurance.

hate thy neighbor!

Can this reversal of the ancient commandment really make sense to any reasonable man?

Yet look around you. Doesn't it seem as if this is the rule that too many people are living by these days? The result? Selfishness, bigotry, hatred for groups and individuals . . . war.

Is it really possible for you to "Love thy neighbor as thyself?"

Take this question with you to the place where you worship. There are no guarantees of "instant goodness"—for you or anyone else—when you step inside. But you will find people searching there, as you are, for truer values in an uncertain and troubled world.

This week, worship with your family in your church or synagogue. And put your Faith to work all week long.

PREVENTING BIRTH BLUES

An ounce of prevention can avert postpartum depression, a not uncommon condition following childbirth. This is what Dr. Lloyd Elam told fellow-physicians attending a recent meeting of the National Medical Association.

Dr. Elam, who heads the Department of Psychiatry at Meharry Medical College in Nashville, Tenn., believes that if a woman is encouraged by her physician to air her fears and problems during pregnancy, she may get just the support she needs to handle them effectively, and may thus avoid "birth blues."

According to Dr. Elam, "Any pregnant woman who suffers a loss, fears an increase of responsibility, or has a diminishing ability to take care of things is a likely candidate for postpartum depression." Sensitive understanding is the "miracle drug" such a woman needs during her pregnancy, and afterwards, as well, says the psychiatrist.

Dr. Elam pointed out that postpartum depression usually sets in about the fourth day after the baby is born, but that its forerunner, apathy, often begins on the second day. If such a sign appears, it should be treated promptly.

GEORGIA FORMULA FOR HAPPIER FAMILIES

When Georgia welfare officials reviewed their case load recently, they found that "a good many families who had been on welfare are now self-supporting; and that a good many families were happier, without threat of physical and genetic tragedies." What caused this change? Making family planning information and materials readily available to all who wanted them.

This finding was reported by Hannah D. Mitchell, the state's coordinator of nursing services, at a recent meeting of the American Public Health Association. The public health nurse explained that as medical personnel learned how to communicate more effectively with their patients, the latter became more interested in learning about family planning and applying it to their own lives.

DOCTORS' ORDERS OFTEN IGNORED

Who's fooling whom? A recent study shows that more than one third of all patients apparently fail to follow their physicians' orders -- and many doctors fail to realize it.

This is the sad news reported recently by Milton S. Davis, Ph.D., assistant professor of sociology in medicine, Cornell University Medical College, New York City. Professor Davis believes that persons between 46 and 65 years of age -- more often women than men -- were more likely to ignore orders than younger people.

When a physician's advice is frightening or has painful results; when it is inconvenient or time-consuming; or when it requires the patient to use his judgment, it is likely to be disregarded, forgotten, or denied.

What does a doctor do when he finds out about such reluctant patients? Generally, he tries to explain further the need for treatment and to persuade his patient to follow it. If that doesn't work, he is likely to withdraw from the case.

Dr. Davis' findings were reported in the November 1, 1965 issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association.

FIRST ASSEMBLY OF GOD CHURCH

REV. T. A. McDONOUGH

The history of the First Assembly of God, dates back to 1938; when the Reverend Gayle Jackson was directed by the Lord to conduct Evangelistic Meetings in Sikeston, with the view of establishing a Full Gospel Witness in the city. For a while, the work was met by much opposition and ridicule. But the God who sent him proved to be with him to open doors. First, there was a wood tabernacle, at South New Madrid and Trotter streets, then as the congregation felt the need of better facilities, the property at the corner of Matthews and Warner Streets were bought and a basement church built. Before Rev. Jackson resigned the church, for full time Evangelistic endeavors, the church purchased the property at South Kingshighway and Kathleen streets, for a permanent location.

The Rev. Jesse Smith, of Mobile, Alabama; was called to succeed the Rev. Jackson as pastor in 1949. During his pastorate, the congregation continued to grow and a two-story educational building was completed. This building was designed with the upper floor serving for Sunday school and church activities and the first floor serving as a Sanctuary; until a permanent Sanctuary could be built.

In 1953, the Rev. Loren Wooten of Springfield, Missouri; was elected pastor, succeeding Rev. Jesse Smith. Under his leadership the church built its present Sanctuary, bringing to completion its building program in 1957. The church plant is one of the finest in Sikeston. The beautiful blond brick building has approximately 23,000 square feet of floor space, the normal seating capacity, including the balcony is 715; with additional facilities to accommodate 1,000.

Rev. James E. Smith, of Kansas City, Missouri, followed Rev. Loren Wooten as pastor in 1959. Following the Rev. James E. Smith's resignation this past September, the church called the Rev. T. A. McDonough of Tulsa, Oklahoma, the present pastor.

The church not only has fine facilities, but a wonderful and very active church school and church program. The First Assembly Sunday schedule includes Sunday School at 9:30 AM, Morning Worship at 10:45 AM, Youth Services at 6:00 PM, Prayer Meeting at 6:45 PM, and Evangelistic Services at 7:15 PM. The mid-week service is prayer meeting, Bible study, and choir practice, each Wednesday evening at 7:30. The Assembly also sponsors four Missionary clubs for the entire family to participate in: The Royal Rangers, The Missionettes, The Women's Missionary Council, and The Men's Fellowship. There is also a Deaf service held once monthly.

The local Assembly is one of over 8,000 Assembly of God Churches in America, with a membership of close to 600,000 with an average Sunday morning attendance of over 1,000,000. Since its beginning in Hot Springs, Arkansas in April, 1914; the movement has grown rapidly not only in America, but in other lands as well, with more adherents outside the United States than inside. As the church was born in REVIVAL FIRES, so the church still maintains a strong evangelistic program worldwide. Old time camp meeting style SINGING, SHOUTING, PREACHING and PRAYING still characterises the services. It is not unusual for people of other faiths to visit the services of the local Assembly of God, especially on Sunday evenings. These are always extended a hearty welcome. For it is a FULL GOSPEL CHURCH located, "IN THE HEART OF THE CITY, WITH THE CITY AT HEART."

Smith Becomes Most Hated White Man On African Continent

By LYNN HEINZERLING

SALISBURY, Rhodesia AP--Ian Smith has made himself perhaps the most hated white man on the African continent.

He is a 46-year-old cattle rancher and prime minister of Rhodesia. With one 20-minute speech Nov. 11, he tore this colony free of Britain, put the nation's economy in jeopardy and consigned Rhodesia's four million black people to a future of white domination.

To many of Rhodesia's 225,000 whites, he is a George Washington. To Africans caught up in the fervor of black nationalism, he is a racist gone mad. Britain's Prime Minister Harold Wilson calls him "a frightened man."

Actually, he is none of these. Rhodesia's prime minister is an able and rugged individual who says he is doing what is best for the people of Rhodesia, black and white.

He is the product of a way of life which began developing in southern Africa when the first white man landed at Cape Town more than three centuries ago.

This white society's attitude toward the black man is a blend, in varying degrees of intensity, of paternalism, fear, pity and contempt.

In this society, the white man supplies brains, skills and money to build tidy cities, efficient railroads and large, flourishing farms. The black man supplied the cheap labor which made it possible.

In this part of the world few whites can be found with the honest conviction that a multiracial society of equals is possible.

Smith, the son of a cattle rancher and butcher, was shot down twice as a British fighter pilot in World War II.

Back in Rhodesia, he entered politics. He resigned from the United party in 1961 after a constitutional conference increased African strength in Parliament to 15 seats out of 65.

At the root of Rhodesia's conflict with Britain has been the African demand for more seats, more voice in government. Britain sees this as the African's right. To Rhodesia's whites this means eventual black domination.

Smith sought out Douglas Lilford, a wealthy tobacco grower and cattleman. The Rhodesian Front was born with Smith among the founders. It elected Winston Field prime minister. He was not firm enough.

Smith took over the job 18 months ago on a slogan of "no black nationalist government in my lifetime."

The Front won all 50 A-roll seats in an election earlier this year. These seats are elected principally by whites and Smith's mandate could not be questioned.

Lilford, who employes 600 Africans on his farms and has for a family motto "Preserve what you have," supported Smith for Field's job.

"This man," he told the Rhodesian Front, "has steel in him."

That is the impression Smith gives. He speaks forthrightly.

Yet he can say "We must tell the people the truth" and a few hours later clamp censorship on the Rhodesian press.

Smith has put together a Cabinet which obviously thinks as he does. The minister of internal affairs, William J. Harper, was, like Smith, an officer in the Royal Air Force.

Lord Graham, the Duke of Montrose and a wartime destroyer captain, gave up his ducal prerogatives in Scotland to farm in Rhodesia and is now minister of agriculture. He is a violent opponent of African nationalism and, with his aristocratic lineage, takes a paternalistic attitude toward African problems.

Clifford Dupont, deputy prime minister, has been named acting administrator to take the place of Gov. Sir Humphrey Gibbs. He formerly was a London lawyer and once boasted: "We can and will halt the wind of change."

He was an artillery officer during the war.

The minister of justice, Desmond Lardner - Burke, was born in South Africa and has shown no hesitation about acting against political opponents.

Lardner-Burke would dispute Prime Minister Wilson's assertion that this government has the appurtenances of a police state, but its powers are awesome.

The only two African leaders of any stature are in detention. The length of their detention without trial is at government discretion. R. S. Garfield Todd, a former prime minister who favored a greater voice for Africans in the government, is restricted to his farm.

Rhodesia always has been a police state for Africans. They are segregated, controlled, largely deprived of a voice in government.

Under emergency regulations now in force it could become the same for whites.

The minister of information can take over printing firms and direct their business "for so long as the minister considers it expedient."

Police may order any part of the public "out of or to any particular area or portion of an area in the interests of public safety."

Any gathering may be prohibited. If it appears to the justice minister that "the dentention of any person is expedient in the public interest," he may order it. He is empowered to establish camps for this purpose.

Government employes can be compelled to remain on the job. Any person passing along a "statement, rumor or report" likely to cause alarm or despondency risks three months in jail.

Ancient Rice

Rice is the cornerstone for good eating around the world. Nearly one-half the world's population depends upon rice as a basic food, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture. In many countries, the words for food and rice cultivation are synonymous.

The first written account of rice cultivation came from China around 2800 B.C. However, many scholars claim rice was originally grown in India, and later brought to China.

American cultivation began in the late fifteenth century. Although attempts to establish it in northern states proved unsuccessful, rice flourished in the Southeastern U.S. until the Civil War disrupted farming in this section. Now, the major producing states include Texas, Arkansas and California.

Cultivation of this season's rice crop has been particularly successful in our growing regions, as production is estimated to be about 24 per cent above average. With these plentiful supplies you can look for economical rice prices throughout the fall and early winter months.

Plan to feature rice in your menu soon. It is not only versatile, tasty and plentiful, but extremely nutritious as well. Here are a few handy recipes from the USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service to help you plan around rice.

BAKED EGGS-RICE AND VEGETABLES IN MUSHROOM SAUCE

Mix together one 10 1/2 oz. can condensed cream of mushroom soup, 1 tblsp. prepared mustard, 1 tsp. salt and 2 cups water. Gently mix in 1 1/2 c. cooked and seasoned mixed vegetables and 4 hard-cooked eggs which have been sliced. Layer along with 3 c. rice in a greased 2-qt. baking dish. Bake in a pre-heated 350 degree F. oven for 1 hour or until most of the liquid is absorbed. If desired, top with buttered crumbs or grated Cheddar cheese.

BEEF-VEGETABLE SOUP
(Rice Style)

1 tblsp. cooked fat
1 lb. lean stew beef, cut in 1" to 1 1/2" cubes
1/2 tsp. thyme
1 bay leaf
1 tsp. monosodium glutamate
1 c. coarsely chopped onions
1/2 c. chopped celery leaves
10 c. water
1 c. sliced carrots
1 c. coarsely chopped cauliflower or cabbage
3/4 c. uncooked white rice
1 c. baby lima beans
1 tblsp. salt
1/4 tsp. black pepper

A pound of lean stew beef is browned. Then flavorful thyme, bay leaf, celery leaves, onion and the flavor booster, monosodium glutamate are added. When the beef is almost tender add the vegetables to cook until tender. You can substitute cabbage for the cauliflower or green beans and peas for the lima beans.

Slowly add the water. Cover and simmer over a low heat about 1 1/2 hours or until the meat is tender.

PREDICT "WATERighting" WILL SET NEW STANDARDS IN HOUSING

Americans are the best plumbed people in the world, as everyone knows. And things are going to get even better, the Plumbing - Heating-Cooling Information Bureau reports. A concept called WATERighting is expected to revolutionize housing standards within a decade.

As the name implies, WATERighting simply means having enough water-using equipment in the home to provide the ultimate in comfort, health, convenience, safety and beauty. The concept, which is copyrighted, has been tested in 12 key cities throughout the country with model WATERight Homes that attracted an unusual amount of attention, according to the Bureau.

Besides several bathrooms, the kitchen sink and a hydronic (hot water) heating system, the average WATERight Home contains at least the following: Dishwasher, food waste disposer and instant hot-water in the kitchen; bedroom lavatories;; entertain sinks in the family room or on the patio; a full laundry; hot and cold water in the garege; water outlets on all sides of the house and outdoor drinking fountain. Some WATERight Homes have courtyard water falls, snow-melting installations under the sidewalk and driveway, lawn sprinkling systems and swimming pools.

The WATERight Home has every convenience made possible by piped water, in other words. Its future is seen as rosy for two main reasons -- America's increasingly affluent society and the fact that there's nothing "gimmicky" about the concept. Rather, it offers genuine and lasting conveniences and benefits to the homeowner and his family.

Cavities Increase With Kissing

By DOUG BAILEY

MIAMI, Fla. AP -- Scientists have discovered that tooth decay is a highly contagious disease, not a defect you inherit from your parents, says a University of Miami researcher.

That means if you have a good, sound set of choppers but marry somebody with a mouth full of cavities, you are imperiling your ivory smile.

"This is not going to stop kissing," said the researcher, Dr. Doran D. Zinner, in a bit of understatement.

"But it does mean we have made a good step forward in stopping tooth decay," he said.

"For many years we thought of tooth decay as hereditary," Zinner said in an interview.

"But now we know that if an individual does not have a certain type of bacteria in his mouth, he will not get caries."

You can eat all the candy, cake and soda pop you want if you don't have these bacteria, Zinner said, and your teeth won't decay.

Of course, if you do have the bacteria, every time you eat something with sugar in it, you are giving the bacteria food, allowing them to destroy your teeth.

The bacteria area transmitted by direct contract, said Zinner, a dentist - microbiologist who has been studying tooth decay with four colleagues for the past five years under a Public Health Service grant.

About 98 per cent of the population of the world has some form of tooth decay, Zinner said, "but the biggest majority have the slow acting type."

Still, you might catch a faster-moving brand from your girl-friend, wife or even a kissin' cousin, he said.

The best protection against tooth decay discovered so far is fluorides, Zinner said.

Not only do fluorides kill the bacteria but they also become part of the crystal surface of the teeth and act as a wall against new bacteria, he said.

Coroner's Job Takes New Shape

By BOB DUBILL

PRINCETON, N. J. AP -- A shapely blonde coed starts a three - year term as coroner today with visions of running for Congress in the future.

"This is an ideal political office for a college girl," beamed blue-eyed Janet M. Bond prior to being sworn in as Mercer County coroner. "Already I've met a lot of people I wouldn't have otherwise."

She's received a bundle of mail from around the country, including congratulatory letters from Republican National Chairman Ray Bliss and U. S. Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania.

Janet became something of a celebrity three weeks ago by polling 56 votes for a landslide victory over 54 other write-in candidates.

She clinched the election with a mimeographed letter campaign from Mount Holyoke College in Massachusetts urging the people back home in Princeton to add interest to their election day by casting a write-in ballot for her.

One of her major preoccupations since the election has been trying to figure out just what the coroner's job entails.

For some time Mercer County's governing officials have tried to persuade the legislature to erase the coroner's office from the books on grounds that it is outdated and the county medical examiner has taken over the only essential duties. But the title remains -- and enough voters are aware of the position to keep it alive.

Although the position pays no salary, has no real duties and no patronage, Janet, a 21-year-old political science major, doesn't discount its political value.

"I think deep down every political science student would like to be in Congress some day," she said. "One way to get there is by winning elections."

Viet Nam War Map Called Collector's Item

We now have available for you a splendid, full color map of South Viet Nam that is of utmost importance now and that may well be a collector's item in years to come. Nothing else like it is available.

It's based on exclusive reports from AP war correspondents. Suitable for home, classroom, office or library, it's a must for everyone with a relative in service and for teachers, students, parents and armchair strategists.

It shows U.S. bases and operations areas, Viet Cong country and infiltration routes, the places where the action is and much, much more. There are seven maps in all, counting those on the back.

You should order now, while the supply lasts. Send $1 for each map desired.

Dunklin County To Hold Bond Election

By MAX STURM

KENNETT, Mo. -- Voters in Dunklin County will go to the polls on Tuesday, December 14, to vote on a proposal for a $975,000 general obligation bond issue for use in expanding and improving the Dunklin County Memorial Hospital. If approved by a two-thirds majority this sum will be matched by an equal amount of federal funds to provide almost $2 million for the program. The federal money is available under provisions of the Hill-Burton Act.

This will be the third time for the proposition to be presented to Dunklin County voters. In two other elections two years ago it failed to receive the required two-thirds majority. On this third try the hospital's board of trustees declined to initiate the election. It was scheduled, however, after a number of leading citizens circulated a petition which was signed by enough voters to have the proposal brought up again.

It appeared that opposition in the past two elections was centered principally in the north end of Dunklin County where residents stated that they didn't use the hospital at Kennett, going instead to Poplar Bluff. Proponents are of the opinion that much of this opposition has been overcome during recent months, and are optimistic on the approval of the proposal in coming third election.

One contributing factor in overcoming the opposition is the federal medicare program which will become effective next July. Many Dunklin County citizens now realize that the hospital must be greatly expanded and improved to serve the additional patients expected to use the facilities under the new program.

Another factor is the success of a similar proposal in a recent election in adjoining Pemiscot County. The voters in that county approved a $400,000 bond issue for use in adding a wing to the Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital at Hayti. This sum also will be matched with around $400,000 from the federal government. The vote was overwhelming in favor of the issue, receiving a seven to one majority. The new wing will provide space for at least 44 additional beds and improved related medical services.

Both of the hospitals at Kennett and Hayti were constructed shortly after World War II with matching Hill - Burton funds.

Also in Kennett bids were being accepted for the construction of a 50-bed professional nursing home to be owned by Dr. C. R. Peck of Kennett and Dr. R. L. Palenske of Hornersville. The estimated cost is $200,000 and plans call for the structure to be completed and ready for occupancy by early next summer.

In Stoddard County a campaign to raise a $480,000 fund by popular subscription for a hospital to be located at Dexter has been successfully completed with the amount going over $500,000. This sum will also be matched by a federal Hill -- Burton grant to provide around $1 million for the construction of the 50-bed facility to be located on a 12-acre site northwest of Dexter. It will be operated by a non-profit community corporation instead of as a part of the county government as the hospitals in Pemiscot and Dunklin are operated. The fund drive is continuing, however, so that a larger facility can be constructed than that originally planned.

Federal Court Opens Hearing To Get More Negroes On Juries

By REX THOMAS

MONTGOMERY, Ala. AP -- A three-judge federal court opens a hearing today on a suit aimed at getting more Negroes listed on the jury rolls in Lowndes County, scene of two civil rights slayings this year.

The Negroes who filed the suit, the Justice Department, and the Episcopal Society For Cultural and Racial Unity contend that only a fractional number of Negroes have been used on juries in the county, although 80 per cent of Lowndes County's population is Negro.

The government claims that it has been the practice of Lowndes County for a half-century to keep Negroes off juries because of their race.

The suit was filed prior to President Johnson's announcement that he will ask Congress for passage of new civil rights legislation to "prevent injustice to Negroes at the hands of all-white juries." It was brought by several Lowndes County Negroes, with the aid of the American Civil Liberties Union, and amended to allow the Justice Department and the Episcopal group to intervene.

Only Lowndes County is involved but other suits have been filed involving other Alabama counties.

The suit also challenges the Alabama law prohibiting women from serving on State Court juries. The Justice Department, however, did not enter into that issue. The petition filed by Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach seeks only to forbid discrimination on the basis of "race or color."

The suit was filed six days after an Episcopal seminary student, Jonathan Daniels of Keene, N. H., was killed by a shotgun blast in Hayneville, the Lowndes County seat.

The 26-year-old Daniels was the second civil rights worker killed in Lowndes County this year. In March, Mrs. Viola Gregg Liuzzo, a white Detroit housewife, was shot to death as she drove along Highway 80 near Lowndesboro.

An all-white Circuit Court jury acquitted Thomas L. Coleman, a Hayneville highway engineer and part-time special deptuy sheriff, of a manslaughter charge stemming from the death of Daniels. There were no Negroes on the panel from which the jury was chosen for that trial in Hayneville, although they have been on juries in times past.

A month later, Ku Klux Klansman Collie Leroy Wilkins Jr., a Fairfield, Ala., mechanic, went on trial in the same courtroom for the second time in the slaying of Mrs. Liuzzo. He also was acquitted by an all-white jury.

Another jury had earlier failed to reach a verdict in the Wilkins case. Wilkins was one of three klansmen charged with murder in the slaying. The other two, who have not been tried, are William O. Eaton and Eugene Thomas.

There were seven Negroes on the panel of 70 men from which the second trial jury was chosen, though none actually sat on the case.

GOD BE THANKED

GOD BE THANKED for any yield
That seeking hearts may find
From the harvesting of every field
That lies before mankind.
Not always is that garnering
Gold grain from seeded soil,
For there are many things that bring
Reward for earnest toil.
So God be thanked for work to do
To earn man's daily bread,
For countless tasks the long year through
That families may be fed.
This is the day for special prayer,
This is the time for praise
For God's continual gracious care,
His mercies through our days.

For countless blessings such as these
We thank Thee, God, upon our knees.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

THE WAY TO "PEACE FOR FAMILIES AND FOR NATIONS"

By Augustus James Cox, Member of the San Francisco Presbytery of the United Presbyterian Church

This will be enriching to you if you take the time to read it. So, I suggest that you read this at home and let your loved ones read it and apply the above Title to these few replies of numerous-such-replies that I have had to what one Editor called, "A Personalized Lord's Prayer".

A Chaplain of a large Mid-Western Technical College, who holds a Ph. D. Degree, wrote this to me on March 30, 1965, What a wonderful inspiration your interpretation of The Lord's Prayer is! My Chaplaincy has been enriched by reading this prayer and by using it in my daily meditations and prayer. With the use of the first person singular the true Light of Christ touches one's mind more fully. God bless you for this inspiration which you are now sharing with not only the writer, but with his many students.

Then on April 16, 1965, I received this letter from a Roman Catholic Archbishop of a large Western City, which, with these other responses, I include for the help of the millions of Catholics and the hundreds of millions of other people around the World.

Thank you for sending me a copy of the very complimentary letter you received from the Chaplain (quoted above). His enthusiasm has kindled my desire to know your interpretation of Our Lord's Prayer.

With best wishes for the Graces and Blessings of the Easter Season.

Of Course, this "Personalized Lord's Prayer" is for one's own individual and private Devotions and does not change the use of "Our Lord's Prayer" in Family and in Public Worship, but will make it more meaningful and will inspire and enrich your life as is set forth above and as I have experienced. This is the Prayer requested and referred to above and it is needed, sorely needed in this grave time of Riots, Strifes, Wars, Crimes, Poverty, Injustice, in Race Relations, Afflictions like Blindness, Drug Addictions, etc., to bring about "the Healing of the Nations" and "the Peace of the World". On the basis of *and  found below anyone can pray thus,

*My Father, Who art in Heaven or Who art within me, Sacred by Thy Name, Thy Kingdom come, Thy Will be done on earth as it is done in me and may it be done more perfectly in me; Give me this day my daily bread, Spiritual, as well as, physical; And forgive me my sins, as I desire to forgive those who have sinned against me; And lead me not into temptation, but deliver me from evil, For Thine is the Kingdom and the Power and the Glory, World without end.

These references are also for everyone's help, as will be the daily use of this "personalized Lord's Prayer", which will bring to your conscious mind soon the Infinitely Loving Guidance of Christ's indwelling Spirit.

*If you think this is a selfish way to pray, recall how Jesus, Who to hundreds of millions of people is the Supreme Example, addresses God many times as, "My Father" and "the Father" also means, "My Father". See especially John 5:43 through John 17 and elsewhere in the Fourth Gospel. See also, Psalm 23:1a: "The Lord is my Shepherd".

See the King James Version on Luke 17:21 wherein Jesus says, "The Kingdom of God is within you" and believe that "the Kingdom of God or Heaven" is the product of the Spirit of Christ dwelling in each person. See also, Ezekiel 36:27 and John 15:7 in which Jesus again says, "Since you are in Me and I", that is, My Spirit "is in you, ask whatsoever you will and it shall be given to you". Other passages that are helpful are: Acts 17:28; Romans 8:11; Colossians 1:27; Galatians 4:6 and 1st John 4:16b. The Apostle Paul teaches that "One's body (or mind) is the Temple of the Living God". See: 1st Corinthians 3:16; 6:19 and 2nd Cor. 6:16. And whether you are persecuted or blessed, one can take as his or her own these words of Paul, Gal. 2:20 (KJV) as I paraphraze them, "I am crucified (or blessed) with Christ, even so I live for Christ lives in me". See: Eph. 3:16 and Philippians 4:13. First Peter 4:12-14 will be a wonderful help to you.

A large California College President, who is Presbyterian, said, "Your version of The Lord's Prayer is the absolute Truth. It's the Gospel and it is tremendous!" And he mailed it to his Faculty and Students. Physicians, Dentists and others have sent it to Statesmen in Vietnam and other such areas. But, the task is barely begun: Getting this whole Message published and translated and sent at one's own expense, for the sake of Humanity, to People at Home and Abroad.

The California gull, which is smaller than most of the gulls flying in the Atlantic Ocean area, breeds inland and moves about in large flocks which serve as a powerful check against insects and rodents. In Salt Lake City there is a monument erected by the Mormons in tribute to this bird which once saved their land from destruction by grasshoppers.

It Every Time — By Jimmy Hatlo

Today in U.S. History

Today is Friday, Nov. 26, the 330th day of 1965. There are 35 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1789, the first official Thanksgiving Day under the New Republic was celebrated, following its proclamation by President George Washington.

On this date

In 1864, American theatrical history was made when Edwin Booth opened in the New York winter garden in "Hamlet," beginning the longest Shakespearean run to that time, 100 performances.

In 1925, Germany ratified the Locarno Treaty, which guaranteed the French frontier.

In 1942, allied troops were battling Japanese forces in the Buna sector of New Guinea.

In 1943, President Franklin D. Roosevelt, British Prime Minister Winston Churchill and China's Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek ended their conference in Cairo.

In 1950, the first of 200,000 Chinese troops crossed the Yalu River in support of the nearly defeated North Korean armies, prolonging the war of invasion for more than three years.

Ten years ago-A police station in Rosslea, northern Ireland, was bombed by raiders, believed to be members of the outlawed Irish Republican Army.

Five years ago-Ten workers were killed when a freight train rammed a work locomotive at Hanover, Germany.

One year ago-Belgian troopers rescued 211 white hostages held in the Congo town of Paulis; 22 whites were found murdered.

Today's birthdays:

Playwright-actor Emlyn Williams is 60. Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan, former aide to President Harry Truman, is 72.

"Bury the Hatchet"

The expression "bury the hatchet" started with the Indians of North America. It was the custom, before smoking the peace pipe, to cover up all signs of hostility by burying tomahawks or hatchets.

HELLO UP THERE — Coed Ranelle Summers is sure of an unobstructed view of traffic as she wheels around Southern Illinois University's campus at Carbondale. Lori, six feet tall herself, gets a further lift from her 5½-foot high-rise bicycle.
